CHICAGO.

THE AUGUST ELECTIONS.

Returns from Tennessee show a decided gain for the Opposition, and indicate the probable election of John Netherland (Opposition) for Governor, over Isham G. Harris, the Democratic nominee. The appearance is that the same party have elected four members of Congress, out of the five districts heard from, to wit:

District..................III—Reese B. Brabson.
V—Robert Hatton.
VIII—James M. Quarles.
IX—Emerson Etheridge.

The Democracy have elected Wm. T. Avery in the Xth District. This result is the more remarkable, since the Opposition party in Tennessee did not pursue the policy of their brethren in Virginia and Kentucky, of affecting to be more pro-slavery than the Democrats. The slavery issue was carefully ignored.

From the meagre returns before us from North Carolina we can only assure ourselves of the reelection of L. O'B. Branch, (Democrat,) in the IVth Congressional District. In the Ist District the race seems to be close between Henry M. Shaw, (Democrat,) the present member, and Mr. Smith, (Opposition.) The Vth, or Quaker District, represented in the last Congress by the Hon. John A. Gilmer, (Opposition,) about which considerable interest gathers, is not heard from.

From Texas one report places the gallant Sam Houston ahead in the Gubernatorial contest, while another via Charleston, S. C., makes Mr. Runnells, the regular Democratic nominee, successful so far as heard from.

St. Louis Election.

The election in St. Louis, on Monday, was a mixed up affair. There were, 1st, a Republican ticket; 2d, a Democratic ticket; 3d, an American ticket; 4th, an Independent ticket; 5th, a Sunday Reform ticket. A majority of the candidates on the latter tickets were the same as on the Democratic ticket—the object being to beat the Republicans. The battle was a drawn game, in part, but the Republicans secured the lion's share of the spoil. They elected a Judge of the Supreme Court, one or two members of the Legislature, three out of five Commissioners, Secretary, Clerk of Circuit Court, Clerk of Common Pleas, and Clerk of Land Court.

The Fusionists elected one member of the Legislature, two Commissioners, and Clerk of the Criminal Court. The Surveyor is still in doubt.

The test vote of party strength was on Clerk of the Circuit Court, as follows:

Rice, Republican	7,914
Garesche, Democrat	5,116
Barron, American	3,179

On County Auditor the vote stood for the Republican candidate, 7,495; Democratic, 5,929; American, 3,342. For Secretary, the Republican candidate received 10,423, and the Democratic candidate, 6,091,—a majority of the Americans voting for the Republican nominee. Democratic candidates who received the vote of all the factions, were elected by small majorities, and on one it was nearly a tie—showing the Republicans are nearly a match single handed against a coalition of all other parties and factions.

The question on the proposition to close the liquor establishments on Sunday was decided in the affirmative, as follows: For closing on Sunday, 7,413. Against, 5,292, and 4,100 neglected to vote on the question.

Dr. Roman's Statement.

The statement made by Judge Niles through the columns of this paper on Saturday last, is fully corroborated by Dr. Roman in a letter to the State Register. The latter gentleman contradicts the assertion of the Quincy Herald and State Register that he (Roman) wrote to Gov. Bissell advising him that the resolution of 1857 precluded the funding of the McAllister and Stebbins bonds. He says:

> This is altogether an error. I never heard, directly or indirectly, what Gov. Bissell thought of the law, how it might be construed, or anything whatever from him on the subject, except the announcement to the house, by his secretary, that he had approved the bill. The resolution was introduced to enable him to discriminate between bonds held by lien, and held by bona fide purchasers, from the fear, after reading the bill in print, that it would compel him to fund the interest on all bonds outstanding, without regard to the manner obtained. This is the history of the bill and resolution. In a subsequent part of the communication, I am reported to have communicated with Gov. Bissell, calling his attention to the resolution, &c. The facts are briefly as follows: Mr. N. Pensoneau, recently returned from New York informed me that he had purchased, or had the control of the Macalister and Stebbins bonds, or a large portion of them. That the holders of them had bought them in the market in New York at public sale, and that if the State had not received full consideration for them, it was no fault of the holders, as they bought them in good faith, and desired me to write to Gov. Bissell on the subject— I could refer him to a resolution in relation to State bonds, &c. I wrote to Gov. Bissell, calling his attention to the resolution, and suggested that I thought it left large discretion with him, to determine what bonds were held by lien, and what by bona fide purchasers.

Instead, therefore, of Dr. Roman having informed Gov. Bissell as alleged by the Herald and Register, that his resolution precluded the funding of the bonds in question, it turns out by his own admission, that he wrote Gov. B., in substance, that his resolution was not intended to include these bonds, and that he (the Gov.) had a large discretion in the premises.

It was upon the hypothesis that Dr. Roman had written such a letter that the Herald and Register claimed that a Democrat had defeated the scheme for the payment of these bonds. The recent letter of Dr. Roman's effectually deprives them of that thunder; and hereafter, even they will be compelled to admit, that the Republican State officers had stopped the funding of the bonds, had notified the parties that the new bonds would never, under any circumstances, be paid, and had made arrangements to secure their return—all before any Democrat in the State or out of it had said a word upon the subject. What next?

The Booth Case.

The evidence in the Booth case has closed, and nothing remains but the arguments of counsel and the verdict of the jury to remove a most foul and pernicious vapor from the Milwaukee atmosphere. The last day's proceedings in Court were made interesting mainly by the denials of the girl, Caroline Cook, that she had made this or that obscene demonstration, or used this or that bawdy language in public, as charged by some of her neighbors. The mildest phrases employed in this part of the investigation were, "I never called my mother an old b—h, nor an old sow."

From Washington.

[Special dispatch to the N. Y. Tribune.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3, 1859.—As The Constitution would convey the idea that Gen. Cass's first letter upon the expatriation question asserted no view or opinion of the Government, it is proper to state that thousands of such letters have been sent from the State Department, informing naturalized citizens who were going abroad, of their liability to perform military duty if claimed by Governments of countries of which they were natives. No other opinion was obtained at the Department, nor were letters of any other description written upon the subject. The first letter of Gen. Cass' that was published was the stereotyped reply of the Department.

It is stated that the Hon. John C. Rives is changing the Jackson Hall building so as to make them suitable for the Congressional printing. Mr. Wendell will not have the monopoly of this business much longer.

Horace Mann's Successor.

The Springfield (Ohio) News and Journal, says:

> "It is the universal opinion that the decease of Mr. Mann will be a death blow to Antioch College. Undoubtedly it is a terrible blow—a most afflictive providence—yet the gifted but departed President seemed in his last hours to retain that sagacity, foresight and judgment which at all times characterized him while in active life. This was indicated by his suggesting the Rev. Dr. Bellows, of New York, one of the ablest men in the country, as his successor."

Illness of Senator Davis.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.

Private dispatches received yesterday report Gen. Jefferson Davis as dangerously ill at Clifton, on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. Dr. Miller, of this city, was telegraphed for, but he being absent, Dr. Stone left last night to render medical assistance. Gen. Davis' family is with him.

THE STATE OF EUROPE.

[Correspondence of the N. Y. Tribune.]

LONDON, Friday, July 22, 1859.

Though the war has ceased and the preliminaries of the peace are signed, the troubles of Italy are only beginning, and nobody sees how it will be possible to carry the peace into execution. Since the Venetian province remains under the Austrians, I rather rejoice that all the four fortresses—the keys of Lombardy—were also left in their possession. They are a standing menace against Victor Emanuel, who knows too well that he cannot always reckon on French assistance, and therefore must continue to find his support against Austria in the extension of liberal institutions, and in keeping alive the desire of Italian unity throughout the peninsula. Here, then, we have a ferment which will keep up agitation, and prevent the Italians from falling once more into that political torpidity, which characterized the nation for many years previous to 1848. As to the Duchies of Modena and Tuscany, Napoleon has already positively stated that he will not allow the expelled Dukes to be installed by foreign soldiers. They may try to get back by fair means, but if their former subjects should openly and clearly show their abhorrence of their rule, he will not force them to accept princes whom they detest, provided they remain peaceable and do not resort to revolutionary measures. All this sounds very mysterious, and I must confess that I do not fathom this idée Napoleonienne, unless it means that the Emperor of Austria, too, is to be cheated, and that one of the articles of the peace is to remain a dead letter. As regards the other—I mean the confederation of Italy with the honorary Presidency of the Pope, it is so monstrous that it cannot be carried out. The King of Sardinia has already, to a certain extent, put a stop to it, by entrusting Ratazzi, who is actually under the excommunication of the Pope, with the formation of a Cabinet. You will probably remember that Ratazzi was more liberal than Count Cavour, and that he had to resign as Minister on account of the bitter hatred entertained against him by the clerical party. Now he is again the soul of the Ministry of Victor Emanuel. How could Cardinal Antonelli embark with him in the same boat of Italian Confederation without capsizing it? Still greater are the difficulties in the Papal States. The Legations have established themselves independently of the Pope. The Roman volunteers from the army of the Allies are flocking to Bologna; and the Swiss of the Pope, under Generals Kalbermatter and Schmidt can, even after the butchery of Perugia, scarcely hold the March of Ancona in decent submission to the Roman Government. The French have not yet been persuaded by Pio IX. to restore his secular power by force of arms, while the Austrians are forbidden to cross the Po. What is Antonelli to do now? At Naples we saw a mutiny of the Swiss mercenaries soon followed by a general order of Prince Satriano, which disorganizes these troops by allowing each soldier to return home. More than two thousand have availed themselves of this permission. Thus even Naples gets rid of the Janissaries by whose sword the despotism of the late King was supported. The country must now either be governed in a more liberal way, or it will be ravaged by revolution. All this complication is a result of the peace of Villafranca.

As to Napoleon he has shown less cunning than he had credit for. Only last month he was the master of Europe. It was in his power to become the greatest man of his age, when all at once he throws away all his chances, makes a peace which settles nothing, but which exasperates Italy, arouses the suspicions of England, threatens Germany, humiliates Austria, fails either to conciliate any of the nations of Europe, to satisfy the ambitions of his army, or to reassure the moneyed classes. For the first time in his life he appears before the public with an elaborate apology for his short comings, but his performance is hissed—it does not convince anybody. The Orleanists and Republicans are chuckling at his false step, many an Italian whets his dagger, and the Germans, seeing that their union in the Frankfort Federation, has no leg to stand upon, instead of trying to reform their miserable position, unanimously execrate Napoleon. What then could have been his motives for the peace of Villafranca, which he must have known could not please either friend or foe? It is said by his adherents that he foresaw an armed mediation of Prussia, England and Russia, stepping in and dictating a peace. Now rather than permit the traditions of 1815 to triumph again, and rather than that the European pentarchy should once more decide the fate of the nations and alter the map of Europe by common accord, he is said to have given more favorable terms to Austria, in order to keep out the other powers, and to make a new breach in the treaties of 1815. I need not say that this excuse is even weaker than his own, when he throws the blame on the armaments of Prussia, and on the necessity in such a case of allying himself with revolution. The Emperor of Austria also throws the blame on Prussia, complaining that he has been abandoned by his natural allies, thereby reversing the words of Napoleon.

Public Sentiment in France.

[Editorial Correspondence of the N. Y. Times.]

PARIS, Thursday, July 21, 1859.

The Peace does not grow in public favor. The feeling of the people is one of profound disappointment and discontent. Their hopes as the war went on rose higher and higher. The brilliant victories which crowned every step of the French army roused the sentiment of military glory—always strong in a Frenchman's breast—to the highest point of enthusiasm. The great mass of the people—resolute and zealous always in their love of freedom—exulted to see France again leading the van of Liberalism in Europe, and looked for nothing less than the utter abasement of Austria and the supremacy of substantial Democracy in the Italian States. Louis Napoleon, for the first time, began to be positively and thoroughly popular at home—and this popularity increased just in proportion to the degree in which he was distrusted and feared abroad. The French people were prepared to see this war carried on to the "bitter end." They were ready for all the chances and all the sacrifices which it might involve. They did not as a general thing, credit the danger of its extension to the rest of Europe; but even if that had been certain I think they would not have shrunk from it, but would have preferred such a result to the peace that has been concluded. Their hopes have been blasted; their faith in the Emperor's cold, resolute determination to accomplish whatever he undertakes, has been shaken; their hatred of Austria, and their thirst for its disgrace, have not been gratified, and they feel that their sentiments and wishes, which seemed to weigh so much at the outset, have been in the final adjustment utterly disregarded.

Austria Furious against Prussia.

The Berlin correspondent of the N. Y. Herald writes under date of July 20:

> By all accounts from Vienna, the Court are furious against this country, and would go any lengths to wreak their vengeance upon it; the censors of the press are instructed to allow the most violent articles to be published against the Prussian government, and even the Imperial peace manifesto contains a covert threat, the army being told that the Emperor relies upon their valor "in future conflicts." If, therefore Louis Napoleon should think proper to assume a hostile attitude towards Prussia; if he should seize upon the warlike preparations she has recently made, and which were evidently directed against him, as an excuse for picking a quarrel with her and realizing the idées Napoleon in respect to the natural position of the Rhine, he may depend upon finding a zealous coadjutor in Austria.

The Relations between Sardinia and Austria.

The Paris correspondent of The London Globe says:

> "It is now formally announced that neither Victor Emanuel nor any responsible minister of Sardinia has signed any paper at Villafranca, save and except the armistice, which continues to the 15th of August. Austria and Sardinia are still in a constructive state of open war, no peace terms having yet been accepted as between these two belligerents. At Zurich the three governments consent to meet, but as Count Cavour is personally a bugbear to Francis Joseph, he, of course, has consented to withdraw his presence from the green baize on which the final protocols will be laid for signature. The Cabinet of Ratazzi will be, nevertheless, inspired and directed by the master statesman who has hitherto upheld the claims of Italy, while the silent march of events in the central territories comes in aid of a more favorable solution than was at first supposed."

Will the Pope Accept the Italian Presidency?

[From the Paris Univers, Papal Organ, July 20.]

Some journals have already thought fit to communicate intelligence as to the mode in which the sovereign Pontiff has received the offer of the title of President of the future Italian Confederation. Some say he has refused it, others announce that he has almost promised to accept it. The fact is, neither the one nor the other know anything about the matter. It is certain that the Pope, who had refused the actual Presidency in 1848 and 1849, has not negotiated upon this point either before or during the war of 1859. The latest acts of the sovereign Pontiff prove this beyond all doubt. With respect to the honorary Presidency, it is an entirely new idea, which cannot, as yet, have been the subject of discussion. Besides any other consideration, one of the principal reasons which ten years ago caused the refusal of the head of the Church still existed before the peace of Villafranca. The Pope did not desire any extension of his temporal domains or political action, which should have for its point of departure a war between the sons of the Church and the dispossession by means of arms of a Catholic sovereign. Doubtless overtures may have been made to the Pope immediately after the interview of Villafranca, but no one can be in a position to say how they were received, because the latest intelligence from Rome is anterior to the peace. They who amuse the public by spreading such reports as these should consider that Rome never decides without reflection, and never engages herself as to the unknown. Now, nothing is more unknown than the future Italian Confederation; because many of the sovereigns called to form part of it have not yet been able to exchange a word on the subject. To resume, when people talk of the intentions of the Chief of the Church with regard to the honorary Presidency of the Italian Confederation, they are simply giving utterance to personal appreciation or gossip.

Gunpowder Explosion.

On Tuesday morning, the 2d inst., a keg of gunpowder in the store of Mr. Zadoc Daniel, at Cambago, Northern Wisconsin, exploded with terrific violence, tearing the building to atoms, scattering goods and other property in every direction, and seriously, if not fatally, injuring the following persons: Alfred Yocum and his daughter, John Willoughby, James Ballard, Nicholas Willoughby, William Covey, a daughter of Mr. Daniel, and a negro boy—making eight persons in all. The floor is the only part of the house remaining, and the Post Office, being in the same building, was also destroyed, and the mail matter scattered in every direction.

THE CITY.

PERSONAL.—Rev. W. H. Milburn, the Blind Preacher is at the Tremont House.

POLICE MATTERS.—Little or nothing afloat at the Police Court yesterday.

JUSTITIA FLAT.—Justice Wallis we learn was severely injured by falling down a flight of stairs leading to his office yesterday.

SIGNIFICANT.—The prisoner Jumpertz, in the jail in this city, has a kitten which he calls Sophie Werner.

FREE CONCERTS.—Another of those charming free open air concerts was to have been given last evening on the Lake Shore by the Great Western Band.

RAILROAD GUIDE.—Appleton's Railroad Guide for August has been received from the publishers. An indisputable vade mecum for the traveler.

SUICIDE BY HANGING.—Coroner James was called, yesterday afternoon, to hold an inquest on a man who had committed suicide by hanging, at a house on the Blue Island road, a few miles out of the city.

PROOF GRAPHIC AND PHOTOGRAPHIC.—The Journal says that a London Insurance Company having instructed their Chicago agent to take no risks in our "wooden city," a copy of Hesler's great photograph, the city at a glance, has been sent out to refute the calumny.

THE MISSION SCHOOL EXCURSION.—Five car loads of happy children, connected with the Taylor street Mission School, passed a delightful day in a picnic at Bremen, on the Rock Island Railroad yesterday, returning to the city about seven o'clock.

AT THE RICHMOND.—We notice amongst the guests at the Richmond House the names of Commodore Shubrick and Capt. Scott, of the U. S. Navy, and Major Brooks and Capt. Morris, of the U. S. Army.

COUNTERPARTS.—A new novel entitled "Counterparts," written by the author of "Charles Auchester," has been received by McNally & Co., 81 Dearborn street, who also have English papers of July 23d, and No. 4 of "Once a Week."

AQUATIC.—While listening to the dulcet music of the Great Western Band on the Lake Shore Park on Thursday evening, a prominent resident and banker missed his footing and went down the curve of swift descent into the lake. The General was extricated de profundis, damp but unharmed.

QUALITY OF THE NEW SPRING WHEAT.—The new Spring Wheat begins to arrive more freely; and we are happy to say that it fully bears out the reports which have come to us of its excellent quality. This morning a sample box was filled on 'Change, made up of lots from almost every car-load that arrived, and besides being tolerably clean, it was full and plump—weighing 59¼ lbs to the measured bushel. We understand that none of the new Spring Wheat received thus far has weighed less than 57 lbs., and some lots have weighed as high as 62 lbs.

AN INTERESTING MISSIVE.—Capt. Moore of the Merchants' Police showed us yesterday an infernal machine picked up in the rear of a business block on Randolph street. It is a stone weighing half a pound, about which is wrapped a cotton rag which had been saturated with turpentide, and over this are laid common matches completely covering the surface of the stone, to which they are bound with twine, the dipped ends of the matches projecting in every direction for the obvious purpose of causing ignition when the stone should be thrown into a room. Over the place in the yard where this petard was found was a window, in the second story, on the lower sill of which was mark or indentation to which one end of the stone fits exactly. It was thrown but missed, falling upon the earth outside. A very pretty and as might have resulted, disastrous piece of mischief was thus frustrated.

FLORAL.—Edgar Sanders, of Lake View, one of Flora's duly accredited agents in this region, sent to our arid sanctum, yesterday, a boquet the most superb we remember lately to have seen in its wealth of tints and odors. Mr. Sanders has given to the acres he cultivates marvellous results of taste in floriculture, and his boquets may be had at J. H. Reed & Co.'s drug store on Lake street.

Apropos to this subject we are glad to state that at the late meeting of the Gardeners' Society, on Thursday evening, arrangements were perfected for the grand Floral Exhibition at the United States Fair, in September, by the Society, and also at the State Fair.

The committee of arrangements for the Floral department of the United States Fair consists of F. Ledlow, J. C. Ure, D. Bonard, A. T. Williams and Mr. Bradley. The committee for the State Fair Floral Department are Richard Rees of Naperville; Robert Gow, of Anna; and D. Bonard, of Chicago.

THE PARTAKER WORSE THAN THE THIEF—THE JUNK TRADE.—There are cases where the partaker is worse than the thief. Let the former be a Junk-dealer and hold out a premium of cash purchases and no questions asked, for the plunder of the little and big mud larks and gutter-rat population of a city like ours, and let him sit day by day behind his musty heaps buying old brass and copper and lead-pipe, and all kindred classes of the Junk trade, and let this dealer be a man in his full and sharpened senses, the while those into whose unwashed little palms he doles his pennies, are the small waifs of alley life boys who never heard the name of God except as forming a constituent of wild blasphemy, and we do aver, with a confidence in our readers sustaining our opinions, that the wretched old blue bottle fly is much worse than ragged Bod and dirty Bill who sell him their stealings.

These wretches who pay a premium on young activity in the art of thieving, are too numerous in our city. They are the arch professors in a college of crime, never short of students, whose degrees are the various steps from the larcenies of little Bill of a "wipe," or a piece of lead pipe, to the midnight predatory tours of burglar Bill, with his full armament for offense or defence.

The nuisance is a growing one. Under the stimulus of ready cash and no questions asked, our town is swarming with young thieves. The boys of our streets are becoming experts in crime. We hear almost daily of houses entered that have been left vacant, or offices visited that chance to be tenantless and accessible, and the gas fitters and plumber's art is in all cases needed to repair damages through active demand for old brass and junk lead, which causes gas fixtures and water pipes to be torn away and battered into junk. A vacant house on State street was thus entered a few days since and despoiled of $150 worth of brass work, gas fixtures, plumber's work, door fittings, &c., &c.

We learn of other cases akin to this. No wonder the junk trade thrives. Let the police look to these junk dealers. Some of them may be men of character, but others are certainly men of noted dishonesty, and a prettier field for operations in a small, quiet way, by an unscrupulous knave is not easily found outside a junk shop. What of the junk dealer who unblushingly stated that he had purchased from $100 to $200 worth of old iron from a blacksmith in the employ of one of our railroad companies, understood by him to be the usual perquisites of the blacksmith. Railroad men; dear Galena Superintendent, how is that?

We again ask the police to overhaul the junk dealers and let their number be reduced by a timely shortening in of the career and licenses of some of the most noted.

HOMICIDE IN THE WEST DIVISION.

Unhappy Result of a Quarrel.

Yesterday morning Coroner James was called to hold an inquest upon the body of one Thomas Cowhey, a laborer, in the employ of Michael Carter, and lying dead in his shanty on Green, near Madison streets, in the West Division. Circumstances before the decease of the man, but while his death was inevitable, pointed so strongly at the occupant of a neighboring shanty, one John Dubig, as the author of Cowhey's injuries, in the course of a late fight between the two; that Dubig was arrested on Thursday evening on a warrant sworn out by the wife of Cowhey, before Justice Milliken, and taken to jail by officer Colburn.

It seems that the difficulty between these two neighbors sprung up out of an altercation between the men as to their cows. On the evening of Wednesday last, about six o'clock, Cowhey was standing on the cross-walk, and near by him, his wife Fanny, milking their cow, the cow standing at the edge of the walk. They had been there but a few moments, when John Duhig came up, driving his cow, and complained that he hadn't room to get by. He however got by without any difficulty, and drove his cow to her stable.

After fastening her, he came out and ordered Cowhey off of the crosswalk, saying that it belonged to him, and that he had no business on it. Cowhey refused to go and Duhig then spit in his face. The former then struck Duhig, which he returned, knocking him down on the walk. He arose, but was again knocked down by Duhig, who, this time, jumped upon him and kicked him violently. Cowhey's wife ran into the house, seized an axe, and rushing out struck Duhig twice with the flat of it, upon his back. The neighbors interfered, and finally separated them. Cowley was conveyed into the house, but no medical aid was sent for.

On Thursday morning Cowhey complained of being very ill, and his wife stating the case to an apothecary as well as she could, the man of drugs gave her a mixture of tartar emetic and ipecac. After Cowhey had taken the dose he became rapidly worse, sank during the afternoon and evening, breathing his last about twelve o'clock on Thursday night, the man Duhig as above stated, having been arrested some hours previous.

Yesterday morning Coroner James empanelled a jury as follows: S. L. Green, foreman; Wm. Shephard, T. Phillips, J. A. Proper, C. Anderson, J. J. Hamlin, A. L. Rice, G. Rogers, A. Storts, J. Filday, Robert McClune, and S. B. Berry.

Dr. Gore, the County Physician, assisted by Dr. Miller and others, made a post mortem examination of the body. Three ribs were found to be broken, and the middle lobe of the left lung, underneath the fractures, was injured. The stomach, also, was lacerated, and on the inner coats a white crystaline deposit was found, which the Doctor believed to be tartar emetic, but which at the same time might be arsenic. The Doctor gave it as his opinion that the wounds aggravated by bad treatment caused his death.

The jury rendered their verdict that deceased came to his death from injuries received at the hands of John Duhig, qualified as above, however. The latter remains committed on a Coroner's Warrant.

WHAT SHALL BE DONE WITH POOR SOPHIE—SHALL WE HAVE A REFORM SCHOOL FOR GIRLS.—In the Recorder's Court yesterday, Sophie Ernst Ahring, ten years of age, the adopted daughter of the Mrs. Mary Henning, on Thursday convicted of being the receiver of property she had trained this little girl to steal, was brought up to answer to the indictment against herself, for such larceny.

On her former appearance as witness against Mrs. Henning, Sophie had been tampered with in jail, as we have stated, and false defence attempted, by evidence on her part directly the reverse of what she had sworn to at the preliminary examination. Yesterday, however, poor Sophie made a clean breast of the whole, and poured out all her troubles. She confessed to having been a thief, trained to steal by her unworthy protectress. She had stolen $100 in gold, and had in several other instances proved herself all too expert and dexterous in her trade.

Mrs. Henning has been sent to the penitentiary for two years. If she received that term of imprisonment for having profited by Sophie's misdirected tact, the hag should pass the rest of her wretched life in duress, and find it even then all too scant penalty for the crime of poisoning the principles and deliberately branding with shame the life of her daughter in training her as a thief.

What shall be done with Sophie? Her case waits a decision. Fathers and mothers glance across your breakfast tables this morning to your own treasured, bright eyed Maggy or Jane, in their fresh-lipped girlhood. How you watch to guard them and guide them along the paths their gay young feet are pressing. Sophie is a bright, intelligent child, on whom yet may dawn a happy womanhood. She is and has been for weeks in our jail, the associate of infamous women. She is convicted of larceny, this ten years old child. What shall be done with her. Shall it be the Jail or Bridewell? One or the other, or shall she be turned out friendless upon the world, her only protectress in the Penitentiary, and she, poor Sophie, alone.

Were she a ragged, neglected child of the other sex, we should have cause to rejoice that the boy was to pass into good Mr. Nichols charge, in the Reform School for Boys. Is it right, and just, and humane in this Christian city that we have no kindred institution to arrest and train into better paths the erring steps of young and susceptible girlhood. Case after case of this kind occurs again and again in all our courts, and judge and magistrate alike are puzzled and perplexed to decide what to do with these girls. It is right that the boys should be thus rescued and trained amid the humanizing and Christianizing influences of a Reform School, the while the neglected and ill-trained Sophies are left unaided, to take the shortest paths to lives of infamy and bury their young girlhood in a darkness impenetrable to sympathy and aid. Imprisonment in jail—the Chicago jail!!—or in Bridewell, is a cruel mockery of reform. Again we ask: What shall be done with Sophie?

FIGHT IN A SALOON.—About seven o'clock last evening a fight occurred in a saloon on Randolph street near Clark. A railroad man named O. P. Bigelow, while intoxicated, got into an altercation with a party, and a small but lively mixed fight was the result, in the course of which a variety of hard knocks were distributed. Bigelow was somewhat hardly dealt with, and on being extricated found he had lost a valuable gold watch and chain, which were found by officer Courtwright in the possession of one Caldwell, a participant in the melee. No arrests were made, but the property was restored, Caldwell claiming to have taken it for safe keeping lest some one should steal it from Bigelow. It looks certainly as if the latter did incur a peril of that nature.

AN OLD ACQUAINTANCE.—Lake Michigan was in "tantrums" during the storm on Wednesday afternoon, and not a few of the guests of the city who went out in the Planet, seeking pleasure under difficulties, "cast their bread upon the waters" most effectually. One of the St. Joseph excursionists declared that he "threw up" all that he had eaten in the State of Illinois, and he thought that he recognized some of his own ham! Rather a serious joke that.

SEWING MACHINES—GEO. R. CHITTENDEN SOLD.—A. W. Harris, agent for Singer, determined to out do Chittenden, agent for Wheeler & Wilson, in his advertisement of "Immense Business," of July 4th, said notice (by Chittenden's code) demonstrating the superiority of Singer's Machines over Wheeler & Wilson's, and it appears by the papers that the object is accomplished and the "sell" has taken; Chittenden manifests great concern (disinterested, of course,) lest the public should be misled by such publications, (kind, this, in him,) and expresses a desire that they (the dear public) should have more information. But what about the premiums awarded by the Wisconsin State Fair last fall, claimed by Chittenden? Did the Wheeler & Wilson Co. receive it for a Family Machine, or was it awarded to another? Ask Chittenden—he'll know. Or if it is so long since that he has forgotten, perhaps Mr. Leonard may freshen his memory on this subject, as he has it in his possession.

IMMENSE BUSINESS.—I. M. Singer & Co., are still extending their business operations by the erection of a new and elegant building for manufacturing their new A machines, which have lately acquired such popularity in a great many families in the West.

They have sold of this style of Machine, within the last sixty days, three thousand six hundred and seventy, and of all the varieties manufactured by them, seven thousand two hundred and forty, making the largest sales that have ever been made in this branch of business, in the same length of time. The latest improvement designated as the A Machine, has recently been examined by the best mechanics in the United States, and pronounced by them to be the best piece of mechanism they had ever seen.

Call at the salesrooms, No. 66 Lake street, and judge for yourselves, when we feel assured that you will at once decide that the merits and capacity of this Machine for family work are unequalled.

OFFICE OF THE WHEELER & WILSON MANUFACTURING CO., 167 AND 169 LAKE STREET—GEO. R. CHITTENDEN, AGENT.—Mr. A. W. Harris, agent for I. M. Singer & Co. in this city, having published (July 4th) under the head of "Immense Business," that I. M. Singer & Co. had made and "sold during the last sixty days Seven Thousand Two Hundred and Forty Sewing Machines," and as this statement is calculated to mislead the public by putting the number of machines made and sold in this time too many by over 5,000, according to the following quarterly statement of I. M. Singer & Co. themselves, and desiring that the public may have a fair, reliable and correct statement of the number of sewing machines made and sold by I. M. SINGER, GROVER & BAKER, and WHEELER & WILSON, beg leave to submit the enclosed letter from E. Howe, Jr., (patentee of a part common to all machines,) to whom is rendered, by each company, quarterly, a correct account of the machines sold, and to whom is paid a license fee on each.

447 Broome Street, New York,
July 29th, 1859.

GEO. R. CHITTENDEN, Esq.—Dear Sir:

Below I send you the number of Sewing Machines sold by the three firms of Wheeler & Wilson Manufacturing Company, the Grover & Baker, Sewing Machine Co., and I. M. Singer & Co. The quarterly returns do not come in at the same time from all, but I send you the last returns rendered, viz:

Wheeler & Wilson, manufacturing Co., returned May 1st, 1859, 5943 machines sold in the United States and Territories and 195 exported.

Grover & Baker Sewing Machine Co., returned May 1st, 1859, 2800 machines sold in the United States and Territories and 140 exported.

I. M. Singer & Co., returned July 1, 1859, 2721 Machines sold in the United States and Territories and 568 exported.

The above is a true and correct account as their quarterly returns.

Respectfully yours, E. HOWE, JR.

RICHARDSON'S NEW METHOD
For the Piano-Forte
IS NOW READY!!

This New Method by the Author of "The Modern School," combines the excellencies of former works, with such improvements as the experience of Teachers and Scholars have, from time to time, suggested. Those who have examined it pronounce it unsurpassed, if not unequalled as a course of instruction designed to lead a pupil from the earliest rudiments of musical knowledge to the possession of that artistic skill as a performer necessary for a rapid and finished execution of the best compositions. Its elegantly engraved plates, exhibiting correct positions of the Hands and Fingers in playing form a new and important feature of a work of the kind, and will be found one of the greatest aids to both teacher and pupil.

Superior in its plan of Study, exceedingly attractive in its Lessons and Exercises, unequalled in its adaptation to the wants of all classes, "Richardson's New Method" cannot but meet with a most extensive sale, and become the most popular and useful work of the kind ever issued.

Two Editions are published, one adopting American, the other Foreign Fingering. When the work is ordered, if no preference is designated, the edition with American Fingering will be sent.

Price $3, on receipt of which it will be forwarded by Mail, post paid.

LAW DEPARTMENT OF THE UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN.

The Board of Regents, of the University of Michigan, in March, 1859, established a Law Department therein, and appointed the following Professors, viz.:

HON. JAMES V. CAMPBELL,
Justice of the Supreme Court of Michigan.
HON. CHARLES I. WALKER,
HON. THOMAS M. COOLEY.

To the several Professors are assigned the various branches of the law, in all its departments, including Constitutional, International, Maritime, Commercial and Criminal Law, Medical Jurisprudence, and the Jurisprudence of the United States.

Instruction is given by Lectures, Recitations, Examinations. Moot and Club Courts, and by other methods best calculated to attain full, exact and practical knowledge of the subject.

The Course extends through a period of two years, each term commencing the 1st of October, and closing the last week in March following.

Students may enter at any time, but are strongly advised to enter at the commencement of the term. Students will have access to the University Law Library, which is to be immediately procured; but in view of the merely nominal charges to which they will be subject, they are expected to provide for themselves the ordinary text books which they will have occasion to use at their rooms.

The charges are $10 Matriculation fee, and $5 annually for incidentals.

The degree of Bachelor of Laws will be conferred on those who complete the course and pass an approved examination.

Any further information will be given on application to either of the Professors at Detroit, or to the President of the University at Ann Arbor, or to any member of the Board of Regents.

The Board of Regents confidently expect from the eminence and practical skill of the Professors, the trifling amount of the charges, and the fine spirit with which the establishment of the Department seems to be everywhere greeted by the public—that the Law Department will at once take position with the older institutions of the country.

By order of the Board of Regents,
J. EASTMAN JOHNSON,
B. L. BAXTER,
D. McINTYRE,

Press & Tribune.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 6, 1859.

SOUTH CAROLINA AND MASSACHUSETTS.

It was alleged, about the time that Massachusetts adopted the Two Years amendment to her Constitution, that she had only copied from a Democratic precedent set by the State of South Carolina—that State having, in the year 1856, effected a change in her Constitution by which the right of suffrage was restricted to native citizens or persons who had been fully naturalized two years. This fact was instantly denied by a majority of the Democratic press in the North. In order to set the question at rest, the editor of the Germania, a German pro-slavery sheet issued in Cleveland, wrote to the Secretary of State in South Carolina inquiring whether any such modification of the elective franchise had been made in that commonwealth. This functionary, not being posted on the fundamental law of which he was the legal custodian, betook himself to "Miller's Compilation" of South Carolina Statutes—a work designed we suppose to assist the Carolina Secretaries of State to become familiar with the local law and Constitution. But it happened that "Miller's Compilation" did not come down to 1856; so the learned Secretary wrote to the editor of the Germania that "a foreigner under the present law, so "soon as he has taken the oath of allegiance and "received his certificate under the seal of the "Clerk of the Court, is entitled to all the privileges of a native-born citizen." The letter was at once published far and wide, and the previous statement was characterized by all good Democrats as a Black-Republican lie.

So far and wide was it published that it finally fell under the notice of the Southern Guardian, of Columbia, S. C., which journal called the attention of the Secretary to the fact that the Two Years Amendment was effected in the year 1856 and enforced in the local elections of 1857, himself to the contrary, notwithstanding. Mr. Secretary thereupon overhauled his documents again and fished out the following curiosity from the legislative proceedings of 1856:

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives, now met and sitting in General Assembly, and by the authority of the same, that the amendment of the fourth section of the first article of the Constitution of this State ratified on the nineteenth day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ten, be altered and amended to read as follows:—Every free white man of the age of twenty-one years, paupers and non-commissioned officers and private soldiers of the army of the United States excepted, who hath been a citizen and resident in this State two years previous to the day of election, and who hath a freehold of fifty acres of land or a town lot, of which he hath been legally seized and possessed at least six months before such election, or not having such a freehold or town lot, hath been a resident in the election district in which he offers to give his vote six months before the said election, shall have a right to vote for a member or members, to serve in either branch of the Legislature for the election district in which he holds such property, or is a resident."

The keeper of the South Carolina statutes was thus forced to explain the error involved in his letter to the Cleveland man, which he did by casting the blame upon "Miller's Compilation," adding as a further explanation, that "it "is not incumbent on this office to expound the "law of this State,"—an announcement which must have been gratifying to that portion of the community which has an interest in the laws.

The Southern Guardian, commenting upon the amendment, says it must be evident that no person can vote who has not been invested with the rights of citizenship two years. It sums up the civil privileges conferred upon foreign-born citizens comprehensively thus: "Except as to votes and as to being eligible to "the Legislature and executive departments, and "as to serving as jurors, there is not at present "any discrimination between native born and "naturalized citizens in South Carolina."

CASE OF DR. DOY.

Our readers are already so familiar with the particulars of the case of Dr. John Doy, lately taken by an adroit stratagem out of the jail at St. Joseph, Mo., and hurried off to Kansas, that we need not recite them here. They know that he was kidnapped in Kansas by a party of Missourians, while in pursuit of his regular business—that of a common carrier; that the fact that he had, at the time of his arrest, a runaway negro, a passenger carried for hire, in his wagon, was made an excuse for taking him to Missouri and incarcerating him in jail; that he was unfairly tried and iniquitously condemned; that it was never proved that he was in the State of Missouri in all his life; that it was shown that the negro went into Kansas with a permit from his master, and that Doy could have had no share in his alleged act of rebellion in running away. With these things fresh in their recollection, they will not wonder at the action of his Kansas friends in rescuing him as they did; nor will they be astonished or alarmed by the outcry which the Northern pro-Slavery journals are making in consequence thereof. We do not justify them; but their "crime" is one that has righteous excuses. Had a fugitive slave, discharged by a Commissioner in Illinois, been seized by a party of man-hunters and hurried off across the Ohio, their so-called Democratic journals—the Chicago Times included—would never have ventured a word in condemnation. We remember that the killing of a "nigger" on the highway in Washington County, by a party of Democrats, who never pretended that they had authority to arrest him, and the subsequent decapitation of their victim, that the head might be sent to Missouri for the reward offered, "dead or alive," never excited a word in reprobation, though the tragedy, occurring in our own State, was one of the most horrible incidents connected with Slavery that we have ever known. But the rescue of a white man from a prison in which he was confined by the arbitrary power of an armed mob backed up by the iniquitous sentence of a corrupt court, is an offence not to be forgiven. The Times is welcome to whatever capital it may make out of its position.

IRELAND FOR THE IRISH.

A movement is on foot in New York, if not abandoned in consequence of the peace of Villa Franca, for a descent upon Ireland by an expedition from the United States. The Western Banner (Catholic), published in this city, hears that "some good, well-meaning men have been entrapped into subscribing considerable sums on this bottomless enterprise." The Banner opposes the movement for the following reasons:

First. The United States will not allow itself to be dragged into a war merely for the sake of serving Ireland.

Second. No expedition capable of doing anything can leave these shores without the consent of the Government.

Third. When such an expedition is sent, or permitted to go, it will be to use Ireland for American purposes, and not to use America for Irish purposes.

Our greater reason, however, for exposing this delusion, is its tendency to degrade a good cause. Heaven knows '48 was bad enough, but to repeat the same eleven years after, would be still more silly and scandalous. The cause of Ireland has not till this day recovered from the effects of the ridicule to which it was then subjected, and shame upon the man, who, to gratify his egotism for the moment, would lead others into a scheme equally hopeless, headless, and ridiculous.

The Banner, we see, estimates the patriotism of the John Mitchells and D'Arcy McGees at just what it is worth. The Banner is wise, and in this case its advice to its readers should be heeded. Why will it not see as clearly the causes of Ireland's degeneration.

"A Short Horse is Soon Curried."

If Sardinia has lost her Parliament and Constitution by the war, she has at least preserved the liberty of the Press. For proof, see this announcement of the arrival of the King and the Emperor of France, copied from a Turin paper:

"Yesterday, towards 6 P. M., Victor Emanuel arrived in Turin.

"There was little crowd in the streets; cries of 'Viva l'Italia!' 'Viva il Re!' were heard.

"Together with Victor Emanuel was Louis Bonaparte."

These brief paragraphs are more significant of the popular feeling than a column of argument and denunciation.

Effects of the Peace.

It is said by the foreign papers that the disappointment of the patriot party in Italy was so bitter in consequence of the inglorious peace, that six gentlemen attached to the Liberal cause are known to have gone mad in five days after the event was announced. The patriotic excitement that produces such effects will not be without other and better fruit.

The New York Press on the Italian Question.

During the progress of the late war in Italy all the interests, and nearly all the conspicuous personages involved, were more or less ably represented in the press of New York city. The cause of Italian independence found an early champion in the Times. Louis Bonaparte was excessively eulogized in the Herald and the Courier and Enquirer. The revolutionary element received a subdued endorsement in the Tribune, coupled with an unconquerable hatred of the French usurper and despot who had taken the revolution under his fostering care. If Francis Joseph had any friend in the field of New York journalism, outside of the Catholic Press, it was the Tribune—though it would not be fair to place it as an admirer of the woman-flogging system adopted for the government of Austrian Italy. The sagacious Evening Post "went in" for the liberation of Italy by whatever means, and gave an implied adhesion to the Bonapartean policy and tactics. The other journals, excepting Jesuit prints, were generally on the Italian side of the question without special reference to any of its adjuncts. With this arrangement the war started off with equal glory and vehemence in Lombardy and New York. No special change in the programme was noticed, up to the receipt of the news of the Villafranca peace, except that the Times gradually supplanted both the Herald and Courier in excessive admiration of the French Emperor, and made room in its columns for an occasional sneer at Garibaldi and the democratic element in Italian politics—written over the well-known signature of "H. J. R." The Tribune did not manage to keep a very straight back against the popular pressure in favor of Austrian defeat and expulsion from the peninsula. It reluctantly swallowed the facts of Magenta and Solferino, and trusted that something better might come from them than the substitution of French for Austrian taskmasters in Italy. The controversy was enlivened for a time by a scolding dispute between the Herald and the Courier and Enquirer as to which of them had been the more steadfast and consistent friends of Napoleon III., ever since the coup d'etat of the 2d December. While these contestants were exhausting themselves in vain strife on an immaterial point the Times was going to great expense to show that what it had wanted in devotion to French Imperialism in times past, it was now disposed to make up in full and have something to carry.

The announcement of peace dislocated things considerably in the gory arena of newspaperdom, in New York as well as other quarters of the globe—New York being at least one quarter. The Herald grew owlish and solemn, and had less to say about the admirable qualities of the Bonaparte breed—chiefly we suppose because it could not find reasons for further adulation so fast as its lively rival, the Times. Both Herald and Courier found a sudden fascination in home politics, while the Times apparently with an eye single to the decoration of the Legion of Honor, cast itself valiantly into the breach of public opinion, and continued to laud the sovereign of the Gauls as roundly as ever. The Times, however, has a good anchor to windward in the person of an Italian correspondent, who eloquently and affirmatively vindicates his country's cause and anathematizes the "juggling fiend" of France, in one column, while the editor fills his department with energetic appeals on the negative of those questions. We think the correspondent shows himself as much superior to the editor in his logic as the worthiness of his cause. The latter has not quite recovered from the inconvenience of having so many "elbows formed by the sympathy of youth." At least, we judge that deplorable circumstance must have been the cause of his abuse of England and Prussia for forcibly compelling Napoleon, by their hostile attitude, to make peace and leave Austria entrenched in the Quadrilateral, when we read in an adjoining column of the Times the evidence that England was holding Prussia back with all her might, and doing everything in her power to leave the belligerents undisturbed in their work of Italian purification. This happened in the New York Times of the 3d inst.

But the Tribune, singularly enough, did not improve its great vantage ground as a sagacious seer in European politics. The maxim which it laid down at the commencement of the strife, which was in effect that no great good could be naturally expected to proceed from great evil, was verified by the event. Yet the Tribune seems to have mainly overlooked this important fact, and while the London Times is employing a similar opportunity by dealing tremendous blows on all its adversaries and particularly on the hard head of the Gallic Sphynx, the other gives us but debilitated narrative of the current events in Italy and their probable consequences. The only explanation we can think of for so signal a failure to sieze so signal an opportunity is, that the Tribune had begun to discredit its own maxim before the sovereigns met at Villafranca, and has not yet had time to remount the stool of faith.

The Evening Post seems to have borne itself both consistently and intelligently through the crisis. Ardently desiring the independence of Italy, and believing in common with the mass of the American public that Louis Bonaparte's interest, if not his principles, would lead him to a noble and humane conclusion of a righteous war, it applauded him generously while he did well, and condemned him unsparingly when he proved himself as cruel an enemy to Italy as the meanest of the Hapsburghs.

Increase of Suicides.

The New York Times, of the 3d instant, contains a list of suicides committed within the past fortnight—collected from various quarters of the country—the whole number being twenty-six. Of these, eleven were accomplished by hanging, six by the use of the razor or knife, six by poisoning, and three by drowning. The alleged cause in six cases was insanity; in two, rum; one victim, by a letter found in his pocket, charged his reputable wife with his ruin; one, lately widowed, was living with a lewd woman, and his pure wife's ghost haunted him; one was tired of humbugs, and hoped they would spare his remains the humbug of a funeral; one was hard up for money; one died of the slander that an unfriendly neighbor uttered; two—wealthy men—were shattered by excessive anxiety about their business; and one, a lady of good character, chose to sink rather than navigate longer a sea so shut in with clouds and fogs. Only three were women; most of the men were unmarried. Only one, a butcher, pleaded the knocks and bruises of poverty; most of them were in comfortably competent conditions. One was worth $100,000, and another one $300,000.

Mr. Sholte, of Iowa.

The Chicago Press and Tribune gives Mr. Scholte the title of "Col." This is a misnomer, we suspect. Mr. Scholte is a man of peace; a grave and reverend gentleman, educated for the ministry, whose steps are always premeditated; and who is a Republican because he couldn't help it. He believed that "popular sovereignty" and the other watch-words of Democracy, were uttered from a love of the ideas and principles they represented. The evidence against such a supposition became too strong. He stuck to the principle, and it landed him among the Republicans, whose ideas of popular sovereignty were very aptly defined a few days since, by the Vermont State Convention.

It has been said that Mr. Scholte was converted on his way to the convention. The Knoxville Journal sets this question at rest. It says that Mr. S. was appointed a delegate to the Democratic Convention, but promptly refused to serve. He felt that he could no longer act with the Sham Democracy, and he took occasion to render that fact so obvious, as to leave no room for doubt as to his position. When he gets his paper started, he will give reasons for the course he has taken, quite as thick and as fast as his assailants desire them.

The paper has appeared since the above was written and makes good our promise.—Des Moines Citizen.

SCIENCE IN INDIANA.—The Crown Point Register publishes the following triumph of surgical science, communicated in a letter from Liverpool, Lake Co., Indiana:

"A shocking accident took place at this station last evening, (July 20.) An Irishman—drunk—lay down across the track; the train cut off both legs—or mutilated them so, that in the opinion of Drs. ——— and ———, amputation of both limbs was necessary. After borrowing a hand-saw, and administering the small quantity of one-half a pound of Chloroform, they got him so perfectly quiet, that they succeeded admirably in the operation. Of course the man died.

"P. S.—Since writing the above, I find I am mistaken in the quantity of chloroform. The quantity was one pound, lacking half an ounce."

THE PERSIA'S NEWS.

Italian Discontent and French Movements.

The End Not Yet.

We have copious details of the Persia's news in the New York papers of Wednesday evening, from which we cut the following:

THE STATE OF ITALY.

The Tuscan Moniteur publishes a decree by the provisional government, enacting that representatives of the people are to be elected for the purpose of deciding by a majority of votes, what the future government of the country shall be.

The Lombards were apprehensive of being saddled with some proportion of the liabilities of Piedmont.

A Paris letter says that news had reached there that eighty-five municipalities in Tuscany had already met and proclaimed their design to offer armed resistance to the re-intrusion of the late dynasty. Sienna, Pisa, Lucca, Pistoia and Arezzo had pronounced in this direction. As for Leghorn, the commotion had become so formidable that the Gonfaliero Bucossi had to declare, in a proclamation to the townspeople, that he held himself personally responsible to them for the non-return of the Austrian Archduke.

The Paris correspondent of the Times says that, in reply to the provisional government of Tuscany, the Emperor Napoleon stated that he did not desire to force the Grand Duke upon them.

The French government organ, the Pays, says the question of the Duchies remains to be regulated. No one says that Piedmont is not to get a good share of them. The populations will be assuredly consulted. The rulers of these small States have not governed them so as to make themselves indispensable.

A letter from Genoa says that the Milanese, notwithstanding the annexation, desire to have a flag distinct from the Piedmontese.

The absence of all tidings of Garibaldi's forces causes some surprise.

The French government had presented to the King of Sardinia the greater part of the floating batteries which were intended to be used in the siege of the Austrian fortresses.

The Paris correspondent of the London Times gives a report that the treaty of peace contains a clause preventing any intervention in Italy in future, either on the part of Austria or France.

A letter from Rome says that French troops were to be sent to Rimini and Ancona, in order to prevent a revolutionary movement.

THE KING OF SARDINIA'S FAREWELL ADDRESS TO HIS ARMY.

The following is a translation of the order of the day addressed by the King of Sardinia to his army on the establishment of peace, and dated Monzambano, July 12:

"Soldiers: After two months of war, we have arrived as conquerors on the banks of the Mincio. United with our courageous allies we have triumphed everywhere.

"Your courage, your discipline, and your perseverance have excited the admiration of all Europe. The name of 'Italian soldier' is in every mouth.

"I, who have had the glory of commanding you, have been enabled to appreciate all that has been heroic and sublime in your conduct during the course of this war. It is needless, soldiers, to repeat that you have acquired the grandest titles to my gratitude and that of your country. Important affairs of state call me to the capital. I confide the command of the army to the worthy and brave General la Marmora, who has shared with us the dangers and the victories of this campaign. Now I announce to you peace; but if ever, in the future, the honor of our country should recall us to the combat, you will find me ready to command you, well assured that we shall march again to victory.

RECEPTION OF THE EMPEROR AND KING.

A letter dated Turin, July 16, says:

Yesterday afternoon, at three-quarters past five o'clock, the King and the Emperor Napoleon entered together this city, on their return from the camp. They had come from Milan, where the King had preceded by a day the arrival of his powerful ally. Both were well received there; the King in the most affectionate manner, as he is everywhere and at all times; the Emperor, as the man who at all events has withdrawn Lombardy from the abhorred yoke of Austria. In Turin, however, this consideration has much less influence, and the reception here on the part of the people was cold. The only cries heard were those of "Long live the King." The mingling of the French wounded and of those who had received the St. Helena medal with the National Guard in a double line along the streets created no enthusiasm.

I do not know whether the Emperor compared this reception with the one he obtained at Genoa on the day of his landing, or with the one at Milan after the victory of Magenta; but it is certain that his face wore a melancholy expression and that his eyes were cast down. On the other hand, Count Cavour, on proceeding to the station to the station to receive their Majesties, was the object of a real ovation, so boisterous that he deemed it prudent not to form part of the royal cortege, and he accordingly disappeared. Seventeen carriages followed that in which the two monarchs sat. They were nearly all of them occupied by French generals, who appeared well pleased at the unexpected calm. The illumination of last night was a poor affair, and excited no joyous feeling.

One of the papers gave this account of the arrival of the Sovereign:

"Yesterday, towards 6 P. M., Victor Emanuel arrived in Turin. There was little crowd in the streets. Cries of "Viva l'Italia," "Vive il Re," were heard. Together with Victor Emanuel was Louis Bonaparte."

In another column it said: "There is in Turin, one Pietrie, a former police employee of Louis Bonaparte."

The Emperor, when he travels, is constantly followed by a numerous body of gendarmes in plain clothes. Great pains have been taken to disguise by false reports the gloomy and sad impression which the peace bulletin produced, not only in Piedmont and Lombardy, but in the Franco Sardinian camp itself. No further back than yesterday the copy of a despatch, that only has an imaginary existence, was put into circulation. In this, amongst other things, we were assured that Mantua and Peschiera would belong to Piedmont, and that Venice was to be erected into an independent archduchy. The head and manager of these singular contrivances is the ex-prefect of police, Pietri, who, within the last four days, has twice made the journey to and fro between this city and the camp. He has had long and strictly private interviews with Kossuth and other Hungarian chiefs. The Emperor left at six this morning for Paris.

THE INTERVIEW BETWEEN CAVOUR AND NAPOLEON.

A Paris correspondent of the Manchester Guardian says:

"Although never were the measures against the French press more oppressive or vexatious than they are now, yet somehow or other all Paris is familiar with what the Emperor is resolved it shall ignore. At this moment the public is very generally aware, for instance, of what passed at Milan on Louis Napoleon's entrance. The Paris population is not taken in; it knows that the Italians are frenzied with rage; it knows that in Milan the Emperor was hooted and hissed; that flags and emblems of the French alliance were torn down and trampled upon along his passage; and that at Turin it was only by the utmost efforts on the part of the government and the military that the excessive insult was spared the "ex-Liberator of Italy." These things are generally known; but what is less so, is the following, for which I am enabled to vouch. When, after the peace, M. de Cavour found himself for the first time face to face with the Emperor and the King, he found it impossible to remain within the bounds of etiquette, and his indignation burst violently forth; so violently, that at length Louis Napoleon, under control as he is, lost temper in turn, and threatened! The word "arrest" escaped his lips; at which the betrayed Piedmontese minister turned round, saying: "Arrest me! Try it! But you would not dare; for you would then have no choice left you but to go back to France through the Tyrol!"

"You will readily see how easy it is that a great deal should be publicly known here just now, when you reflect upon the unbounded, unbridled rage of the Palais Royal. From the Princess Clotilde downwards, there is no one here who does not add to the word 'traitor' a hundred variations a day. The people who surround 'Plon Plon' were never remarkable for their discretion or reserve; but they are now apparently living only to trumpet forth their wrongs. The natural result is, that much is poured into the popular ear that could otherwise only be known to the elite.

"The contradictions, too, stare every one in the face; the military spectacles got up not three weeks ago, by order, in the theatres on the line of the Boulevards, and intended to excite the national enthusiasm, are now forbidden, 'by order' also, because what they set forth is too ridiculously at variance with the situation."

THE RELATIONS BETWEEN SARDINIA AND AUSTRIA.

The Paris correspondent of the London Globe says:

"It is now formally announced that neither Victor Emmanuel nor any responsible minister of Sardinia has signed any paper at Villa Franca, save and except the armistice, which continues to the 15th August. Austria and Sardinia are still in a constructive state of open war, no peace terms having yet been accepted as between these two belligerents. At Zurich the three governments consent to meet, but as Count Cavour is personally a bugbear to Francis Joseph, he, of course, had consented to withdraw his presence from the green baize on which the final protocols will be laid for signature. The cabinet of Ratazzi will be nevertheless inspired and directed by the master statesman who has hitherto upheld the claims of Italy, while the silent march of events in the central territories comes in aid of a more favorable solution than was inferred at first."

THE MOVEMENT IN TUSCANY.

The Monitore Toscano of the 16th, after stating that the Consulta of State had judged it expedient to revive the electoral law of May 3d, 1848, in order to consult the country as to its future destiny, publishes a government decree enacting that representatives of the people are to be elected under that law for the purpose of deciding by a majority of votes what the future government of the country shall be. The electoral lists are to be immediately formed by the mayors, under the authority of the prefects. The same journal says, in another article, that the words of the Emperor Napoleon III., in which he alludes to princes "called back into their states," cannot be understood to apply to violent restorations, but only to nations spontaneously recalling their former princes; otherwise those words would be in contradiction to the proclamation of Milan, in which it is stated that the wishes of the populations are to be consulted; they would, moreover, be in opposition to the principle applied to the Danubian Principalities.

The Monitore Toscano of the same date also contains the following:

"The government and the Consulta are unanimous in rejecting the great public injury which would be inflicted by the restoration of Austrian domination. The Consulta, after receiving the communications of the government, convinced that the return of the fallen dynasty and every other combination contrary to the national wishes would be incompatible with the maintenance of order in Tuscany, and would sow the seeds of fresh disturbances in Italo, determines: 1. That the government ought to urge in the strongest possible manner on the Emperor of the French, and to use its influence with the other great powers, that in settling the destiny of this part of Italy regard should be had to the free manifestation of its legitimate wishes. 2. That with a view to a legal manifestation of these wishes, at a fitting time, by an assembly of the representatives of the country, the electoral law of 1848 should be put in operation, and the formation of electoral lists ordered. 3. That an address should be presented to King Victor Emmanuel, requesting him to retain the protectorate of Tuscany, notwithstanding the conclusion of the peace, and until the definite organization of the country shall have taken place."

THE GERMAN DEMOCRATS.

A letter dated Eisenach, July 18, says:

"A Congress of the Democratic party in various States of the Confederation commenced its sittings yesterday in this city, famous through Luther's imprisonment in the Wartburg and the translation of the Bible. A 'platform,' to use an Americanism, was adopted to the following effect:—'The peace concluded between Austria and France carries great dangers for Germany with it. The final ground for these dangers is to be sought for in the deficiencies of the federal constitutions of Germany. Germany feels the want of a permanent central government, and a national representation. Reforms in that direction can only proceed from the initiative of Prussia. It is the duty of every German patriot to support the Prussian government in whatever efforts it may make to attain to the supreme direction of the military force of Germany and of her diplomatic representation, as a temporary arrangement to supply the immediate want until it shall have become possible to establish a definite central government.' This platform has been printed, and will be circulated through the extensive ramifications of the Democratic party, whose organization was never fully broken up, and is now vigorously revived."

GREAT BRITAIN.

A report was current that the English ministry had inquired how long the French troops were to remain in Italy.

It is stated that the number of spies employed in Paris has been doubled since the peace, and that there has not been such wholesale seizures of English journals in Paris since the coup d'etat.

A dispatch from Brescia announces the death of the Duke of Abrantes, (son of the famous Junot,) who was wounded at the battle of Solferino. The thigh had to be amputated, and the patient did not long survive the operation. The Duke was chief of the staff of one of the divisions of the army of Italy.

Among the passengers by the wrecked Alma, who have arrived in England, is Sir Jown Bowring, who lost in the wreck the MS. records of his long and varied public life, which filled forty volumes—a volume to a year.

A public meeting was about to be held in Liverpool at the call of the Mayor, to enable the Hon. James Stuart Wortley, the Chairman of the Atlantic Telegraph Company, to explain the position and prospects of that undertaking.

The fortifications of Dover were about to be enlarged at an estimated cost of £150,000.

A NEW SARDINIAN MINISTRY.

A Paris correspondent of the London News writing on the 18th ultimo, says:

It is satisfactory to learn that the Emperor's protege Count Arese, has not succeeded in forming a ministry in Turin, and that the King has sent for M. Ratazzi, whom, as I stated yesterday, Napoleon III. refused to allow to be Governor.

THE LATE SARDINIAN PREMIER, D'AZEGLIO.

A correspondent of the N. Y. Herald writing from Florence, July 16, says:

The Marquis d'Azeglio, now the Chief of Affairs at Bologna, has been received with an ovation in that city. The spirited people of the Legations and the fierce inhabitants of the leading town, have now a centre of a government and a political head to which they may direct their willing obedience. Whatever adjustment for political rule, in this portion of the Roman States, a Congress may make, it is pretty certain that the populations in the region of Bologna will not quietly submit to be placed again under ecclesiastical authority. It seems that the Roman government has established a custom house tax upon goods passing the line between the towns of Cattolica and Pessaro, which is the boundary between the rebellious territory and the districts which have been retained under the Papal supremacy. While this is meant to be a punishment for the towns which have renounced their allegiance, it is at the same time a kind of acknowledgment of their independence.

THE AUSTRIAN MERCHANTS AND MANUFACTURERS ON THE TREATY.

[Correspondence of Galignani' Messenger.

VIENNA, July 15.

The peace signed at Villafranca, notwithstanding the great sacrifices which it imposes on Austria, is in general favorably received here. The immense majority of the population regard it, in the present state of the country, as a real benefit for Austria. No one, however, expected to see the peace promptly concluded, as the general opinion was that could only be brought about by the armed mediation of Prussia and Germany.

The abandonment of Lombardy does not the less produce a great effect on a part of the people. No one is ignorant that Lombardy has been the richest country of the monarchy. The largest provinces of Austria do not possess so much capital and riches of all kinds as Lombardy, and Austrian industry is principally supported by it. The manufacturers of Vienna, Prague, Reichenberg, &c., transacted their principal and most lucrative business with Lombardy, and the cloth makers of Bohemia alone furnished it with merchandize to the amount of from 13,000,000 to 17,000,000 florins a year. The Austrian manufacturers do not, therefore, conceal their discontent. The productions of their establishments, which are inferior to those of France and Germany, were almost the only ones that could enter the Italian provinces of Austria, thanks to the high protecting duties which were levied on foreign manufactures. According to the persons thus interested, Austria ought, before giving up Lombardy, to have appealed to a Congress of the great European Powers. The Bourse, and all the holders of Austrian stock are, however, of a different opinion. They maintain that the disastrous state of the finances of the country required the conclusion of peace without loss of time.

MR. COBDEN.

The Manchester Guardian of the 12th of July, says:

Last evening an influential meeting was held in the public hall, Rochdale, to take steps for celebrating the return of Mr. Cobden, on such scale as will be unprecedented in that neighborhood. A letter from Mr. Cobden was read, in which he stated that he could make arrangements to visit Rochdale on the 27th inst. The committee considered it much better to leave the day open to suit their guest's convenience. Some of the leading reformers and several members of Parliament are invited and expected to be present, and preparations are being made on an extensive scale. During yesterday it was reported to the committee that about 500 applications had been already made for tickets. With respect to the place to hold the soiree or banquet in, the committee had not decided where it should be held, but probably they will make arrangements for about 4,000 people.

A SCATHING SUMMARY OF THE PEACE JUGGLE.

[From the London Times.]

Every actor in the late war thinks it necessary to apologize to the world for the conditions of the Peace. It is something that even irresistible power should feel some homage due to outraged faith. France tells us that she would not have left that glorious work of rendering Italy free from the Alps to the Adriatic so incomplete, if she had not feared to draw on a general European war. Sardinia, while swallowing her humiliation, covers her retreat from the scene with decent promises as to how she will use the gains she has acquired. Austria, more frank, declares that she has ceased to war with the Emperor of the French, because she has discovered that he is her best friend. "The mediation of natural federal allies promised less favorable conditions than a direct understanding." This means that of all the Powers of Europe, Napoleon III. alone would acquiesce in Austria retaining Venetia and restoring the Archdukes. England's opinion upon this subject could not be mistaken; Prussia, notwithstanding the hatred of that nation for the French, would give no sanction to any further Austrian interference in Italy. Even Russia, engaged in manumitting her serfs and in developing her own internal resources, could not, despotic as she is, make herself a party to the scandal of Austrian tyranny in Italy. All Austria's friends were ready to pronounce her in the wrong. Her only sympathisers were to be found in the camp of her enemy. It was the champion of Italian unity and Italian liberty, it was the hope and stay of Italian patriots and Hungarian exiles, it was the enemy who in the name of freedom had struck her down that raised her from the earth and gave her back that rod of iron. Austria had been looking to England, to Germany, to Russia, for assistance against France, and in the moment of her need she found that France was the only Power which really meant what she meant.

Cost of Governments.

Mr. Bright, in a recent speech, congratulated the people of the United States that their expenses of government were only one fifth of the amount that was required to carry on the government of England. The London Times reminds him that to the expenses of the Federal government are to be added the cost of the State governments, and that it is to be considered that some of the States economize by the repudiation of their debts. The English government is much more expensive than ours, but the difference is not so great as it appears superficially, and it is rapidly diminishing by extravagance and corruption and recklessness on our side. Under another term of Democratic sway in the national government, the difference would disappear altogether. Think of that, ye long suffering tax payers of America.—Louisville Journal.

Violent Storm in Iowa.

One of our citizens who was in Warren county, in the vicinity of Indianola, on Saturday last, informs us that there was a violent storm in that section; of longer duration than that here, and much more serious results. The Corn was nearly all prostrated; some of it torn up by the roots. Fences were blown down. In many instances, and wheat that had been bound up was scattered over the ground. A Mrs Egbert, residing near North River, was killed by lightning. She formerly resided in this city.—Des Moines Citizen.

JOURNEYINGS IN CONNECTICUT.

New York to Bridgeport—Bridgeport and its Environs—Iranistan—Tom Thumb—The Great Sewing Machine of Wheeler & Wilson—Four Acres of Workshop—An Army of Workmen—Glance through the Manufactory—The Sewing Machine—[illegible] and what it will do—Eleven Thousand Sewing Machines, &c.

NEW YORK, July 28, 1859.

There are few pleasanter methods of disporting yourself at the seaside on a summer's tour—especially if the tourist belong to the light artillery of travel, and has no band boxes, baby carts or Saratoga trunks in his train, than to make New York a central point of departure for the well chosen selections among the many sea side haunts connected with the great Metropolis by daily lines of steamers. Thus you may in three week's times "do" a score or two of charming points of interest from Newport, along both shores of the Sound; may bathe at Coney Island and Cape May, and drop in upon the summer crowds in the great caravanseries that look out upon old ocean.

I do but give you suggestions which as a light artilerist, I have made good by practice. I have just returned from a trip of two days among what Diedrich Knickerbocker calls "the ingenious men of Connecticut." I took the steamer Bridgeport a few mornings since and enjoyed a delightful run down the Sound. Whatever may be the fate of steamboat travel on the lakes in the hasty rush along the great through lines, which have in this hurrying age given rail the preference over steam, and left magnificent floating palaces rotting at their docks on Lake Erie, it is not to be so here. The lines of boats plying to ports along the Sound and the Hudson hold their own, and each year draw largely upon the profits of the railroads.

I took the steamer Bridgeport for the pleasant Connecticut borough of that name, nestling on its charming inlets from the Sound, and distant about sixty miles from New York. At tea time we were safely ensconced in comfortable quarters in a town the fame of which has been borne far and wide. Who hasn't heard of Bridgeport? Put them aside with the very small share of the civilized human family who have never seen or heard of P. T. Barnum and Thomas Thumb. The former is still Barnum of Bridgeport, but Iranistan is no more, at least in its former associations—having recently been sold to an enterprising and fortunate gentleman, who in teaching the sewing machine men "Hows to do it" has a cheerful and profitable tribute from the rival manufacturers for a patent right, common to all who with all their contentions with each other unite in their relations and dependence upon E. Howe, Jr.

Tom Thumb is soon to be among his family here again, the Strattons. The little General is wealthy, has certainly traveled, and being of age must be considered as in the market matrimonial.

A little east of the centre of the town of Bridgeport, and across a cove spanned by a fine free bridge, upon a pretty plain, and adjoining on the north the line of the N. Y. and New Haven railway, stands a building or rather a pile of buildings destined to bear the name of Bridgeport, through even a wider and more thorough sweep among the hearths and homes of the people, than any of its previous or contemporary notabilities. The passenger at this point glancing from the car window reads upon the broadside of a building five hundred feet long, the title "Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine Manufactory."

The western end of this building, three stories high, is the old structure of the Jerome Clock Company which proved a fearfully "Wooly Horse" to Barnum. It has passed into the hands of Messrs. Wheeler & Wilson, been extended to a total of five hundred and twenty-five feet, and is then but one side of a paralellogram, about two hundred and seventy-five feet in width, entirely surrounded by the substantial and costly structures of these Works, an area of over four acres. We passed through the various shops in order, under the courteous guidance of Mr. Perry, the active and efficient Superintendent of the establishment, and found every part marvellously attesting the results of enterprise, skill and liberality, working with large capital, at a product which in the universal and fast springing demand has borne this department of manufacture superior to all panic times, the while in other branches of New England industry were hushed, the looms idle, and huge forges and machine shops cold and silent.

'No wonder the Sewing Machine is popular,' I have ejaculated a thousand times as I have been a witness of its faithful zealous ministrations in the family, the busy click of its needle telling of a mountain of labor disappearing before its exhaustless energy, and untiring fingers never "heavy and worn," with no heart to break, eyes to weep, or spine to be curved or gentle womanly cheek to grow thin and pale. But the topic is one that always opens floodgates. It is suggestive and eloquent. I might go further and say that I have never wondered at the succes of the Wheeler & Wilson machine over its competitors from its qualities of simplicity, stability and reliability, which given into the hands of females and inexperienced operators has no "maze and mystery of springs and wires" but on the contrary leaves nothing to chance working.

Suppose then we pause here a moment before continuing our stroll through these long cheerful halls with Mr. Superintendent Perry, and interest the reader with an exhibit made up by a careful, actual test of "What the Sewing Machine of Wheeler & Wilson will do," and "what it will save." I do not believe the figures have ever been presented before. They are new to me and I know they must be to your readers. The tables following are thus valuable in this era of Sewing Machines.

The following table exhibits the comparative time required to make a Frock Coat with the Wheeler and Wilson Sewing Machine and by hand:

Here then is the end of all mystery and guesswork, the key to the marvellous career of Wheeler & Wilson's Sewing Machine. Here you have sixteen hours against two, realizing the "eight seamstress" power of this little mechanism. And these tables I have chosen as fittingly the preface of what we are to learn, is the capacity of these gigantic Works at Bridgeport.

It is the "eight seamstress power," which though not so accurately measured, has enforced some conception of such result upon every intelligent operator of the Wheeler & Wilson Machine, and the fame has spread with a rapidity that attests how welcome is the tardy advent and establishment of labor-saving mechanism in the department of the needle.

Upon these four acres and a half, the outlay of capital has been large, and has secured the permanent result of manufacturing facilities I have never seen surpassed. Everything is made on the premises. The iron in the pig; the steel imported in the bar; the ingredients of the brass in their first rude form; the wood in the rough, the pine, the black walnut, and veneers in all varieties, and from these come out the glittering and polished product that has become the coveted ornament and charm of a thousand homes. How lovingly I saw the ladies lingering over them in the superb salesroom of Wheeler & Wilson, under the St. Nicholas, on Broadway, a few days since, just as to-day they are in Chicago worshipping at the same shrine on Lake street, in Ross' marble palace. This it is that has given to the Wheeler & Wilson Company, a sale of five thousand nine hundred and forty-three machines for the quarter ending May 1st, and when to these is added the twenty-eight hundred machines sold by Grover & Baker, and twenty seven hundred odd by Singer, the aggregate of eleven and a half thousand machines, sold in three months, is pretty respectable proof that the Sewing Machine as such is getting to be appreciated. A preference is indicated, too, the secret of the prosperity of this Bridgeport company. These latter figures are made up from actual returns to Mr. Howe on his patent right used in each machine sold by the three companies.

I watched, too, with much interest, the needle makers in the various delicate processes and manipulations which convert a dull bit of wire into the sharp little weapon of womanity in all ages, now for the first time given into other and metal fingers, machine-impelled. The parts of the Family Machine are identical, and pass through all the processes alike until the later higher finish and silver plating, which, with the richer mounting distinguishes the various priced machines. The $50 machine comes within the reach and means of attainment of a greater number of homes, its fellows to whom are given the more striking adornments of silvered surface, and garniture rich with polished mahogany and rosewood, might grace any drawing room.

There are four hundred and fifty mechanics employed by the Wheeler & Wilson Company. Their homes adorn that vicinity with the best characteristics of New England village life. They are good citizens, and a little army of which in point of intelligence, skill and esprit du corps the employers are very justly proud. On the late 4th of July the celebration of that anniversary by these workmen was the notable event of the country round about. I saw in the yard yesterday a handsome brass field piece which does salute duty for these Works on occasion.

The processes by which the machine in its parts and as a whole passes through the hands and the careful scrutiny of trusty workmen, giving to each machine the severest tests, to develope any lurking imperfection, are as faithful and strict as they are curious. When the several parts of the machine are put together and in running order, they are placed in long rows on a bench, and connected with a shaft, by means of which they are run at a high speed for several hours, securing smoothness and perfect adjustment in their bearings. It was curious to watch this latter ordeal, and see a row of Family Machines, a rod or two in length, needleless, and buzzing away at a velocity they will never again attain. When the last touch is given, the last test applied, and the machine pronounced perfect, it is set away, bearing in its grasp a sample of its own sewing to tell the story of its own success. It was no wonder to me, from this hour among the Wheeler & Wilson operatives, that their Sewing Machines go forth to lives of usefulness only to be interrupted by accident or carelessness, rarely by flaws and imperfections.

The motive power in the Wheeler & Wilson Works are two superb eighty-five horse power engines being set up in the new engine room, by the Pacific Iron Works, while in another angle of the paralellogram a fifty horse power machine drives the saws and planes of the wood shop. The shops are full of those special contrivances and improvements which will spring into existence under the eye and brain of the observing and intelligent workman. The "rotating hook," for instance, in this Sewing Machine, in its conformation for seizing, guiding and finally closing the interlocking of the threads is a singular shaped piece of steel, as a moment's glance at its working will show, and yet its manufacture is simple and rapid, and from the perfection obtained, but of trifling expense compared to what it was at first. Here a series of machine hammers and dies, with a few blows shape the softened steel pin into its first and approximate form, and then away it goes against the jaws or rather grinders of a succession of machines, each intelligently and particularly after just its own share of the nibbling, and at the end comes out the polished, oddly-shaped, useful hook, the right hand of the Wheeler & Wilson Machine.

Now out of these four acres of workshop, over two hundred horse power in the aggregate of its engines, and under the hands of four hundred and fifty mechanics something must be done evidently, and done it is, since thus the Wheeler & Wilson Company will be prepared, at the forthcoming completion of their enlargement to turn out between three and four hundred machines per day, or at the aggregate of over six million dollars of manufactured product per annum, or an average of a perfect Sewing Machine every two minutes. With their capacity at present, the Works have been turning out one hundred and twenty-five machines per day, or an average of one perfect machine every six minutes.

What a marvellous change since it was feared by some, whom it was desired to interest in the manufacture of these machines that a product of "one hundred machines per month would glut the market, sir. It won't do sir!"

With the present rapid rate of manufacture, the Wheeler & Wilson Agents are universally behind their orders. For family use the Wheeler & Wilson is generally preferred, and ultimately every comfortable household will possess that or some other machine, and no more think of doing without it in the domestic economy than of parting with the clock or the cooking stove.

But let me not weary your readers with my garrulity. I have made the Sewing Machine the theme of a summer letter, because my sojourn in Bridgeport was full of interest to me. The Sewing Machine is a thrilling topic. I could not hold following, in my mind's eye, these helpers on their mission into the world of homes. One hundred thousand Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machines thus sent forth in one year, with what welcome will they nestle in among the home comforts and luxuries of the people. In the household of wealth, gleaming in polished wood and shining metal; in the humbler home, plainer in style but not less serviceable; in the city residence, the homestead in the village, the farm house, on the Southern plantation, the prairies of Illinois, and hillsides of New England, and down the long rooms of the manufacturer everywhere—the hum of these hundred thousand Wheeler & Wilson Machines is to rise, everywhere with a burden of happiness, in a mission everywhere relieving the burden of human labor.

I came away from my sojourn among those "ingenious men of Connecticut" with a realization more lively than ever before of the place the Sewing Machine is holding in the mechanical annals of the age. H.

Death of Horace Mann.

We learn by a telegram from Cincinnati that the Hon. Horace Mann, formerly of Massachusetts, and, at the time of his death, President of Antioch College, in Ohio, died yesterday morning, at Yellow Springs in that State. Mr. Mann has occupied a very prominent position before the public, as a writer and lecturer on education, and as a politician. He was born in Franklin, Mass., on the 4th of May, 1796, and was consequently in his sixty-fourth year. He was educated at Brown University, and practiced law with great success in his native State until he accepted the post of Secretary of the Board of Education for Massachusetts, in which position he devoted himself with singular zeal to his duties. In 1836 he was elected to the Senate of Massachusetts from Boston, and on the death of John Quincy Adams he was elected as his successor in Congress, in 1848. In 1853 he accepted the post of President of Antioch College.

His reports while occupying the post of Secretary of the Massachusetts Board of Education, twelve in number, gained him a distinguished reputation both in this country and in Europe. A part of one of his reports was published separately in 1843, under the title of Report of an Educational Tour in Germany, Great Britain, &c. It was re-published in London, and has attained the rank of an authority in its class of works. He also published in 1850, in a small volume, A Few Thoughts to Young Men, which produced a rejoinder from Mr. Charles Astor Bristed; and a companion volume entitled, A Few Thoughts on the Powers and Duties of Woman. In 1852 he published two lectures on "Intemperance."

Mr. Mann's permanent place in the annals of American biography will be high among those who have devoted themselves to the task of leaving the world better than they found it. He had all the faults of a vigorous, passionate, emphatic character, and with those faults its virtues too. It is to him more than to any other single person that the primary school organization of the United States owes its best features—and to him that we are indebted most largely for the triumphant naturalization of in America the invaluable system of Normal Academies for the training of teachers. He was in truth, after a sort, the Apostle of skilled education on this side of the Atlantic. He possessed fine natural powers of oratory, and was not less impressive in the lecturer's desk by the simple energy of his eloquence, than convincing as an author by the masculine rhetoric of his ardent sytyle.—N. Y. Times, 3d.

Honors to Humboldt in Mexico.

The constitutional government of Mexico has by special decree, honored the memory and recognised the great services of Baron Humboldt, through his travels and studies therein, by declaring him benemerito of the republic, and ordering, on account of the national treasury, a life size statue of the deceased traveler and naturalist. The statue is to be of Italian marble, and placed, with suitable inscriptions, in the mining college of the city of Mexico.

PERSONAL AND POLITICAL.

Mr. Nathaniel Hawthorn who was to have left England for home, on the 13th of August, will remain there until October.

—Miss Dinah Maria Mulock, author of "John Halifax," has another new book in the press. It will be called "A Life for a Life."

—A foreign correspondent of a Boston journal says that the Hon. Charles Sumner intends to return to America early in November.

—It is stated that the mother of Francis Joseph, the Archduchess Sophia, a keen politician, is about to remove (or be removed) permanently to Prague.

—Mrs. Margaret Fuller, mother of the Countess d'Ossoli and of the Rev. A. B. Fuller of Boston, died at the residence of another son, Mr. R. F. Fuller, in Wayland, Mass., on Sunday evening, aged 70 years.

—Capt. Bonaparte, of Baltimore, escaped without a wound at the battle of Solferino, although in his regiment (1st chasseurs d'Afrique) one in four among the officers, and one in seven among the men were either killed or wounded.

—The Hon. Gerrit Smith, upon reading the Hon. Daniel E. Sickles' late letter in regard to his resumption of his "matrimonial relations" with his wife, as a Vermont paper styles it, immediately wrote, says the Oswego Times, that gentleman a letter approving the condonation of his wife's offense, and has invited him and his wife to visit Peterboro.

—William C. Wilson, the young man who played the games of chess with Yale and Harvard champions, without seeing the board, and beating Harvard, is, says the Worcester Transcript, a farmer's boy from Spencer, but seventeen years old, and had just come in from haying to meet his college opponents. He is a young man of unusual mathematical abilities.

—Hermann Thorne, one of the wealthiest and most widely known of the inhabitants of New York, died at his residence on Monday last, in in the seventy-eighth year of his age. By a fortunate marriage, early in life, Colonel Thorne became the possessor of a large property, and withdrew from active pursuits. He resided many years in Paris, where the munificence of his style of living gave him great eclat, and to a certain extent rendered him a leader in the fashionable world. The last years of his life he passed in a splendid residence, which he built for himself in Sixteenth street.

You are overrun with a deluge of the vilest compounds in the form of "ALCOHOLIC DRINKS"
That ever emanated from that pest of society, the Liquor Mixer.
They are sold to you as a luxury, or they are dispensed to you as a medicine, and in either case the effect is the same.
There is but one way to escape, and that is to use as a luxury or a medicine, a safe and reliable stimulant, sold under stamp and seal, which renders it certain that it has not been tampered with. Such an art
Charles' London Cordial Gin,
Which is distilled under [illegible] of the British Government, is delicately flavored (unlike any other Gin) with some of the most valuable restoratives of the
VEGETABLE KINGDOM,
And is by far the most healthy beverage extant.
The most eminent physicians of Europe and America, not only recommend its use by the hale and hearty, but prescribe it as a medicine where a stimulant is required.
The female sex will find it not only a pleasant
CORDIAL,
But a certain relief in sufferings of a periodical character.
Analytical chemists of all ranks pronounce it perfectly pure, and its restorative merits incomparable.

Special Notices.

☞ One of the most pleasing, at the same time most effective, remedies for Dyspepsia, and all other diseases arising from a morbid condition of the Stomach and Liver, is Dr. Hostetter's Bitters. It not only removes the disease from the system, but by giving tone to the organs of digestion, aids them in their functions. All who have tried it acknowledge its excellence and superiority and we therefore commend it to the sufferer. Dr. Hostetter's Bitters as a tonic is too well known to need praise. It is therefore scarcely necessary at this time to do more than direct attention to this preparation, which is certainly unequalled by any before the public, satisfied as we are that its wide-spread reputation must prove sufficient to satisfy all of its excellence as a relief and remedy for all diseases of the stomach.

LOTS FOR SALE AT LAKE FOREST, ILLINOIS.

The lots belonging to LIND UNIVERSITY, and now offered for sale present favorable inducements to persons wishing to enjoy the pleasures of country life within an hours ride of the City of Chicago.

They are located at Lake Forest, on the west bank of Lake Michigan, elevated one hundred feet above the level of the Lake, about twenty-six miles north from Chicago, on both sides of the Chicago and Milwaukee Railroads, abound in mineral and other springs and natural beauties, and in the opinion of our best physicians the advantages for a healthful resort and residence are not to be exceeded by any on the sea shore or in the Western country.

A fine Academy building (the preparatory department of Lind University) has been erected the past season, and is now in successful operation in charge of S. F. Miller, A. M.

A new Passenger Depot, a Store and more than a dozen dwellings have been erected within the past year.

In addition to the regular through trains an accommodation train taking passengers on commutation tickets at half the regular fare, leaves Chicago every evening, and returns every morning, thus affording business men an opportunity to spend the day in the city and be with their families at night.

A good hotel has been opened and in successful operation for more than a year past.

The Lake Forest Association have also a few lots, mostly for farming purposes, lying near the town, containing from three to ten acres each, which will be sold at reasonable prices, and on usual time.

The subscriber has, within the past year, sold over twelve thousand dollars worth of the lands belonging to the University and Association, and proposes to sell a few more lots to persons who wish them for immediate improvement and cultivation.

INTERESTING TO SPIRITUALISTS.

Letter from Professor Felton—He denies that he is a Spiritualist—A Hit at Judge Edmonds.

[From the Boston Evening Courier, August 2.]

NAHANT, August 1, 1859.

DEAR MR. EDITOR: I have been informed many times within the last few months that I am represented to have become not only a believer in the preposterous fables of the Spiritualists, but a medium, or, as the excellent Mr. Stiles calls it, a meejum. I suppose the rumor has been put in circulation in order to verify the prediction made by a band of spirits through the meejumship of the aforementioned Stiles, that "Professor Felton would become a meejum, though the sperrits would have a hard tussle with him first."

Of course, no one believes this—least of all the original inventor. None of the leaders in the imposture believe it, for they do not believe in their own pretensions. They have succeeded in duping others; they have not succeeded in duping themselves. The fact is—and they know it—that every one of their pretensions has been utterly disproved. The experiments at the Albion proved—as the impostors themselves knew they would prove—the utter turpitude of the cheat; and the decision of the judges, with the brief but most significant warning against the dangerous and demoralizing effects of the imposture and delusion, struck a blow at the whole scheme from which it has not recovered, and never will recover.

When I speak of the leaders in Spiritism as impostors, I do not mean to assert that all of them are destitute of faith in its claims. There are a few who, having had the misfortune to have their belief in Christianity undermined by what is called rationalism, but should be called irrationalism, snatch at the poor juggleries of table-tipping to supply the place of the lost faith. There are others—people of weak judgment and excitable nerves—who have been wrought upon by the legerdemain of such crafty managers as Mrs. Hayden, Mr. Mansfield, and the rest of the deceiving crew, and have really believed these vulgar tricksters are chosen by departed spirits to communicate with the survivors on earth. Others still, astonished at the volubility of the trance-speakers, open their eyes in wonder, and believe that spirits are speaking through their organisms. There was a young man—a Mr. Whiting—who pretended that the spirit of an Italian poet would improvise poetry, on any subject, through his organism. His claims were accepted in twenty-one States of the Union where his exhibitions had been given. When, however, I put the question to the spirit whether he intended to improvise in his native tongue, to the utter confusion of the medium, he was obliged to confess that he never gave that test except in private. Mrs. Hatch, by far the ablest of the trance-speakers, after having been the great pillar of spiritism, as they all admitted, was completely exposed in Lynn and Boston. To a mathematical question she gave a wrong answer, asserting that a thing can be done which is demonstrably impossible; but instead of doing it, the spirits, through her organism, promised that the problem should be solved within a month, and the name of the spirit solving it should be transmitted with the document, "or," said the spirits, "we will confess that we are disgraced forever." That was two years ago; the problem has not been solved, and the spirits must accordingly admit that they are disgraced forever.

I have known one or two cases where, for a time, persons have been caught by the delusion, and have honestly believed themselves rapping, speaking, and even writing mediums. These self-delusions have, however, lasted but a short time; and the victims to their own imaginations have waked to the truth, like patients suddenly recovering from a dose of ether or gas. I have no hesitation in saying that there have been such temporary mediums, who began by deluding themselves and ended by deluding others; and I have no little hesitation in saying that the swarm of mediums of every sort, who are weekly announced in the Banner of Light and the Spiritual Age, and who, after the exposures that have taken place, continue their incantations, are cheats and impostors of the worst description, and ought to be brought under the penalties of the law. When, for instance, the pretended clairvoyants pick the pockets of the ignorant and the credulous, of heavy fees for medical prescriptions, the law should step in and protect the feeble-minded, as it does in other cases of idiocy. And when Stiles publishes an octavo volume of the most enormous nonsense, under the name of John Quincy Adams—forging the handwriting of the sage of Quincy—he ought to be dealt with as any other forger. And when Mansfield opens letters and sells answers to them, under the pretence that the answers came from departed spirits, or hires an artist to draw crayon portraits of the dead, from his own descriptions, or from daguerreotypes, and sells them as portraits taken from the departed spirits coming to sit propria persona, he ought to be dealt with as any other rogue who obtains money by false pretences. I knew from the beginning of the discussion that almost every species of fraud and villainy was practised under the garb of Spiritism; I knew that its tendencies were baneful and demoralizing; I knew that it connected itself with the basest passions, and justified practices that tended to the overthrow of social and domestic and life. Those who charged it with these tendencies were bitterly denounced; but, the recent revelations of those who have had the best opportunities of knowing its effects, surpass tenfold all the crimes that were imputed to it.

The consequence of the discussion was first to induce people who are inclined to listen to its pretentions to examine a little more closely; to apply tests: to see for themselves. The moment this was done, Spiritualism lost all credit with persons of the least penetration. Some of its pretended phenomena have been witnessed in cultivated circles, and for a short time caused surprise and perplexity. At present no surprise or perplexity can be excited: the phenomena is seen through, the tricks are exposed, and, with a very few exceptions, the only dupes are to be found in the haunts of the most ignorant and degraded. Its services were no longer announced in the daily papers with the "religious intelligence." It shrunk from contemptible dimensions, and hides its diminished head from the light of day. Mr. Newton no longer justifies the indecencies of the mystic mount in Lynn; John Murry Spear no longer dares to form his secret circles in puris naturalibus, and the abomination of free love though secretly paracticed are no longer openly defended under the sanction of spiritual communications. No one doubts that the incoherent raving of the trance-speakers comes from their own addled brains, or that the trance-speakers themselves are anything more than shallow impostors, like all the rest. Mediums and others who find their gain in it, will continue their nefarious work so long as dupes, with money in their pockets, offer themselves to be robbed. I am afraid my friend Allen Putnam, one of the best of men, still believes in the horrid and blasphemous cheat, but I am sure he cannot stand it much longer. Judge Edmonds continues to write his puerile fictions in the New York Tribune, but I have never heard of a man, except myself, who has read them. Nobody but the Judge believes a single word of them; and, since he affected to think that Mansfield's atrocious English doggerels came from the elegant Attic poet Menander, which he could not possibly have believed, I cannot suppose he believes in them himself.

Yours in the spirit, C. C. FELTON.

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

KEY TO BE AVENGED.—Matthew Hale Smith, the New York correspondent of the Boston Journal, says:

A madder set of fellows than Daniel E. Sickles' quondam friends are, cannot be conceived. All sorts of things are talked of—mass meeting to compel Dan to resign—a letter, 15,000 strong, hinting the same way—support to the claims of Williamson, who claims that Sickles was not legally elected. What will be done, no one knows. If he keeps open house in Washington next winter, Sickles will have a jolly time of it—Key is not without strong friends. Before the new turn in the affair it was said that the murder of Key would not be unavenged. If the programme on both sides is carried out, many think that another Washington tragedy will be known.

FEMALE REGULATORS.—The Green County (Ind.) Times says that the example of the male "regulators" of that county has been followed by the women, who have formed an association to expel from their neighborhood some facinating female whose blandishments operated unfavorably on the fidelity of their liege lords. A few days since they waited on the fair cause of their disquiet, and informed her that she wasn't needed in that region any longer.

AN OLD SETTLER GONE.—Isaac Wilson, better known as "Black Ike," an old colored man who settled in Rockford some twenty years since, died on Saturday morning, and was buried yesterday. He was perhaps the best known man in Winnebago County. When he came here Rockford was but a name, and he has grown with the place and accumulated a little property, some of which has been invested in the Kenosha road, a splendidly paying stock as every one is aware. Old Ike has had a troubled life of late growing out of domestic troubles, and much sympathy was felt for him. There was a large attendance of old settlers at the funeral yesterday.—Rockford News, 1st.

A CURIOUS PHENOMENON.—A curious phenomenon was witnessed in State street Wednesday by quite a large number of persons. At a moment when the atmosphere was perfectly still, the sun shining brightly down on the dusty streets, but without a particle being moved by so much as a breath of air; a small whirlwind suddenly commenced its eddying flourishes and continued them un il it formed a spiral column at least 100 feet high, perhaps six feet in circumference at the base but tapering off to a point at the top. The density was such that it might have been taken for the pillar of fire that went before the children of Israel turned to ashes. Old settlers had "never seen the like," and could not account for the singular appearance on any hypothesis of superstition, or philosophy.—Rockford News, 1st.

—The trial of Wesley B. Fisher, at Ottawa, closed last week, and we learn that he has been sentenced to be hanged on the 17th inst. He murdered his wife by shooting her in a moment of mad jealousy, we believe sometime last year.

SOMETHING NEW!!!
MITCHELL'S PATENT
Metallic-Tipped Boot and Shoe.

An improvement has been applied to Boots and Shoes, by which a Great Saving in Expense is made. Every Boot and Shoe Dealer knows that Children will wear out at the toe the best constructed shoe in four to six weeks, and that it has hitherto defied the skill of manufacturers to obviate this difficulty.

THE "METALLIC TIP"

meets and overcomes it. A small piece of copper is neatly fastened to the toe of the Boot or Shoe, affording a complete protection to it, and rendering the efforts of the most inveterate stamper ineffectual to kick or wear it out.

We present this invention with the fullest knowledge of and experience in its Practical Utility. Having now for nearly two years been subjected to the severest tests, it has by its own intrinsic merits, actually surmounted every objection that could possibly be brought against it, as the accompanying certificates, which are but a fair average of hundreds of others, will abundantly corroborate. We have no hesitation in saying that the Metallic-Tipped Shoe is destined to entirely supercede, for Children and Youth, the old style; and we consider it a moderate statement, that one pair of the Metallic Tips will outwear two to three pairs of the old style, making a saving of nearly two-thirds in the expense of shoes.

MESSRS. WADSWORTH & WELLS,

UNIVERSITY PROPERTY AT EVANSTON.

The attention of the public is called to the fact that the University has a large amount of property most desirable for residence to dispose of. No place in the entire West offers such facilities for educational purposes. Families wishing to locate with reference to comfort, health, and education will do well to visit this place; especially citizens of Chicago looking to retirement from the dust and noise of the city, will find it to their interest to examine the inducements of this most beautiful suburban village. Desirable lots may be had at reasonable rates on five year's time by simply paying six per cent interest on condition of improvement or on perpetual lease at two per cent. on valuation for first five years, subject to appraisal every five years at six per cent. SEMINARY FOR YOUNG LADIES, AT LAKE FOREST.

Rev. Baxter Dickinson, D. D., and Daughters, from Boston, will open a first class Seminary for Young Ladies, the latter part of September next, at Lake Forest, Ill., the seat of Lind University.

The entire responsibility of instruction will devolve upon the Misses Dickinson who were educated at the best Eastern Institutions, and have had experience in teaching. The course of study will comprise the various branches solid and ornamental, of an accomplished female education. A limited number of young ladies will be received into the family, and have in all respects, a careful and kind supervision. Letters of inquiry may be addressed to Dr. Dickinson at Kenosha, Wisconsin. Early application is desirable.

[From Rev. Dr. Kirk, of Boston.]

Understanding that the Misses Dickinson intend opening a school of the first class I take great pleasure in congratulating the citizens of Chicago and vicinity on the acquisition of such an educational influence. To natural amiableness, genuine piety, and true refinement, the young ladies of this family add all the attainments and accomplishments necessary to conduct a school of the highest character.

Boston 1859 EDWARD N. KIRK.

[From Rev. Dr. Patterson of Chicago.]

I have been acquainted with Dr. Dickinson and his family for many years, and knowing the reputation of the Misses Dickinson as ladies of superior culture and attainments, and as successful teachers, I feel assured that they will give the fullest satisfaction to the patrons of their Seminary for young ladies. MONETARY

FRIDAY EVENING, August 5, 1859.

The Exchange market is working a little more comfortably to-day. Some of the banks are selling freely at current rates, viz: 2½ per cent. premium. The prevailing opinion is, that it cannot remain at present figures beyond a few days. The shipment of a score or two of cargoes would bring down the price; but with the heavy balance of trade against the West it will take some time for it to reach a reasonable figure.

In other respects the market remains precisely as heretofore—Gold, 2½; Discounts easy at 10 per cent. Next to nothing is doing outside of the banks at nominal figures ranging from 1@2 per cent. per month.

ST. LOUIS.—Exchange remains close in St. Louis, and it discounts on Illinois and Wisconsin currency be added, its price is about the same as in this city. The Democrat of yesterday says:

The only important feature in the money market to day, is the fact that a portion of the banks of issue have advanced their selling rates of Eastern Exchange to 1½ premium—the same as the Savings and other banks. Finding that even such checks on the East as were offered there for sale, could not be bought while their rates were lower than others, and by this means a portion of their business was lost, while they were barren of Exchange, they were forced to keep with the market. There is no concert of action among the banks, however, and though it is probable all will adopt the advanced rate, they are irregular at present—holding almost nominally, however, at ¾ to 1½. Some are in favor of keeping down the rate, even though forced to buy at 1 per cent. or to ship gold from the branches to make exchange with, while others say they will keep with the market if it go to ½ per cent.

The demand for currency and bankable funds increases; a good indication of some movement of produce in the country. So great a contraction as is had by the Missouri banks, must make bankable funds scarce. Probably one fifth of their whole circulation has been retired since the first of July statement.

Gold is firm, selling at 1 prem. Silver is ½@¾ discount.

CINCINNATI.—The Gazette of yesterday has the following:

There was, generally, a demand for money to-day greater than the supply of currency, the former having increased in consequence of the payments of the 4th, which will be heavy, we understand. Still, the discount houses, not largely engaged in the assorting business took all the good paper offered, and thus do not feel the scarcity of currency to the extent that it is felt by those who are reluctant to use first or second class "sorts." The rates of interest, in the regular way, were 10@12 per cent., but some good paper was sold outside to-day at 15@18 per cent., and altogether the market may be said to be closer than it has been at any previous time within the last three months.

Eastern Exchange, owing to the demand for currency, was dull and heavy. The rate for bankers' checks, in the regular way, was sustained at ½ prem.; but the buying rates were lower, ranging from ⅛ to ¼ prem. Most of the dealers allowed depositors and correspondents ⅛, but refused to pay others over 37@40c; and bankers' checks were declined at ⅛. Weakness was the leading feature of the market, but as this is caused by a scarcity of currency rather than by an increased supply of exchange, a permanent decline in rates, even if a temporary reduction should be submitted to, does not seem to be apprehended. This feeling induces dealers to favor the maintenance of current figures, but it is probable the demand may be supplied, after the 4th, for some days at least at ⅛. Gold dull at ½ prem. Not many bills offering; good names are taken at equal to 6@8 per cent. We quote.

ROCHESTER—August 2.—The Democrat and American says:—

Produce dealers and millers hold off, and hesitate about fixing prices, so that our quotations must be regarded as in a great measure hypothetical. We are informed that produce men in Canada offer to contract white wheat, deliverable on the other side, as low as 87½c, and that the range in Canada will not exceed 90@100c ℔ bushel. We have had as yet no arrivals of wheat from Canada, and only small lots of new from farmers on this side have been sold. A sale of over 3,000 bushels old white took place last week at $1.20, a portion of the same parcel was held at $1.87½ a few months ago.

New York Wool Market.

[From the N. Y. Tribune, 4th.]

There is no important change noticeable in this branch of trade; the most general feature of the market is that of quietude, and the stock of Domestic Fleece is slowly on the increase, though the receipts are by no means liberal thus far this season. The reason is obvious. Before the clip was shorn off the sheep's back, manufacturers and their agents obtained as much money as they could from the local banks in their vicinity, and then repaired thither (to the country) for purchasing as much of the crop as they could get at low prices, as it were; but very soon it became manifest the farmers would not dispose of their wool unless at high rates. As soon, then, as those who went forward in quest of bargains commenced buying, competition among themselves carried prices soon to the heart's content of farmers. The woolen producers, however, had the satisfaction of deterring prudent dealers and speculators from purchasing to any extent, and bought sufficient themselves for a three months' supply. The De Laine Companies, however, have been an exception, and bought pretty liberally here early in July at as advantageous rates as those prevalent in the interior. With this exception, manufacturers bought very little the past month, and dealers have purchased moderately in the interior, consequently a spirit of depression was manifest for a time, till information of cessation of hostilities in Europe was received, and a more buoyant tone has since pervaded the market.

It is anticipated that, on the restoration of peace in Europe, an impetus will be given to manufacturing, and with an easier money market in England and throughout the continent, that prices will improve somewhat, but the result of the colonial wool sales, which were to commence in London on the 25th ult., will test the accuracy of this assertion; meanwhile, stocks here are held with greater confidence. Texas wool, however, has come forward freely, but being in better condition than usual is firmly held. California is also in fair supply, and is becoming in general favor, prices, therefore, rule firmly. The clip, on the whole, has been a good one, and is generally in fine condition. Foreign is in good supply, but the demand continues very limited, yet there is no disposition to press sales, unless at full prices, as the imports are light, and likely to continue so for some time to come.

The stock in the hands of manufacturers is becoming greatly reduced, and before the close of the month a better inquiry is confidently looked for. The sales embrace 145,000 lbs Native Fleece at 37½ to 40c for common and one-quarter blood; 45 to 50c for half and three-quarter do.; 53 to 55c for full blood, and 58 to 65c for extra and choice "sorts;" some superior "sorts" are on the market at 70c; 40 bales fair California sold at 23c; 60 do. fine do. at 27 to 32c; 30,000 lbs Canadian at 26 to 30c; 50 bales Cape at 33c; 100 do. Persian, 40 do. Smyrna and 60 do. Mestizo on private terms. Pulled is in light stock, and, with a fair demand, prices are maintained with increased firmness; sales of 45,000 lbs at 30 to 50c, as to quality. By auction, 43 bales Unwashed Morocco (African) damaged sold at 12c. and 20 do Unwashed Buenos Ayres do. at 8½c, cash.

The British Corn Trade.

[From Richardson, Spence & Co.'s Liverpool Circular, July 22d.]

The arrivals this week consist of 8,488 quarters Wheat, 4,802 sacks and 776 barrels Flour from France; 715 quarters Wheat from the Baltic; 1,326 quarters Corn from Spain; and 5,495 quarters Corn from the Mediterranean.

Farmers' deliveries of Wheat, for the week ending last Saturday, were 74,665 quarters, at 46s. 6d., against 91,232 quarters, at 45s. 3d. in the corresponding week of last year.

The weather continues very hot, with violent thunderstorms and rain. Some damage is reported to Wheat and Barley, but all green crops will be much benefited. Harvesting has commenced in early districts, and will soon be general. It is yet too soon to form a correct estimate of the Crops, but the popular opinion is that Wheat is a good crop in England—perhaps not so large as last year—in Scotland and Ireland, a large crop. Spring grain and root crops have suffered, owing to long continued dry weather. In Scotland and Ireland, Oats are reported as very short in the straw, and prematurely ripe. Potatoes are not so good as last year, when the crop was enormous, and of superior quality. In some districts, Hay and Grass are deficient. In France the Wheat crop is not expected to be so large, or of such good quality as last year. Spain, which has been an importer the last three years, has an abundant harvest. The last crop of Indian Corn in the Danubian Principalities was very large, and shipments are now in progress on a liberal scale.

Farmers still hold a good deal of last crop, and the stock of Foreign (principally French) Wheat and Flour is very heavy in all the ports. Assuming our harvest to be well secured, there is every prospect of a continuance of low prices. The next few weeks will decide.

Since Tuesday some of the country markets, influenced, no doubt, by the weather, have shown more firmness; and at our market to-day wheat was in rather more enquiry, at an advance of 1d to 2d per cental on Tuesday's rates. Flour slow, without improvement in prices. Indian Corn rather firmer, prime Yellow bringing 30s per 480 lbs. We quote—Wheat, Red, Chicago, and Milwaukee, 7s 6d to 8s 3d; Indiana, 8s 10d to 9s 2d; White Western, 9s to 9s 6d; Flour, 10s to 12s 6d. Indian Corn, Mixed, 5s 10d to 6s 3d; Yellow, 6s to 6s 5d; White, 7s to 7s 9d per 100 lbs.

[From Jas. McHenry & Co.'s Liverpool Circular, July 22.]

PROVISIONS.—There is very little doing in any article. Bacon unchanged. Beef and Pork dull and lower. Cheese in good demand for fair to fine quality; common unsaleable. Shoulders no demand. Bacon—long middles, new—rib in, 45@46s per cwt; short middles, 45@47s; C. cut, 42@43s. Cheese, fine, 52s@58s per cwt.; ordinary to fair, 25@40s. Beef—Prime Mess, new, 80@105s per tierce; India, 10@20s more. Pork—Prime Mess, new, 65@80s per tierce; Shoulders, 25@30s. Lard has been in better demand, and about 100 tons sold at 52@57s for common.

[From the Mark Lane Express, July 18.]

Another week's brilliant weather has forced on the crops rapidly. Oats and Talavera Wheat are already cut; but the extreme heat has brought on premature ripeness. There is much blind Wheat and thin Barley in consequence; while the large quantity laid by the storms has been more or less damaged, and must make a considerable bulk of inferior quality. Potatoes show the disease also, with an intensity equal in some localities to the most calamitous years; and the injury appears to have extended partially to France, Belgium and Holland.—But the unexpected armistice, followed by a sudden peace between Austria and France, in the midst of good foreign supplies and fine weather, has again lowered wheat prices generally about 3s to 4s. The London market leads the panic, till growers themselves have become buyers, in the confidence of some reaction in prices. In another week the harvest will be general, and then a better estimate of the crop can be formed; but at present neither the yield nor quality seems likely to exceed an ordinary average. Much the same expectations are entertained respecting Russia, France and Italy; but in Spain, after years of disappointment, an abundance is expected.

Northern Europe and Germany are well reported as yet; but the weather at this critical period must principally influence the value of all cereals both here and abroad. Good old corn must for some time be required, and holders at the present rates seem more likely to gain than lose by resting on their stocks, even with a favorable gathering; while any serious fall of rain would make a corresponding advance in prices.

NEW YORK CATTLE MARKET.

FOR THE WEEK ENDING AUG. 3.

[Abridged from the New York Tribune, Thursday.]

BEEF CATTLE.

Number reported at this market at Forty-fourth street 3,079

The prices to-day are quoted as follows:

First quality	10 @10½
Medium	9 @ 9½
Ordinary	6½@ 8
Some extra good Beeves may be quoted at	@11
The general average of the market at	@ 9
The most of the sales range from	8 @10

Total number of Beeves received in the city this week 4,447.

This is 551 head more than last week, and 767 head more than the average of last year. The average number at each Wednesday market last year was 2,782 head, so that the number to-day being 3,076, shows 294 head more than the average, and 137 head more than this day week.

BEEVES FROM DIFFERENT STATES.

A. M. Allerton & Co., Proprietors of the Washington Drove Yards, Forty-fourth street, report the Cattle in Market from the following States:

New York	483	Iowa	130
Pennsylvania	78	Connecticut	15
Ohio	634	Canada	203
Indiana	183	New Jersey	8
Illinois	777	Michigan	74
Kentucky	480	Texas	61

The Cattle market yesterday proved worse for the drovers than it opened on Tuesday, and certainly on the whole not as good as it was last week—an addition of some 250 head having arrived on Wednesday morning. Very few cattle, we think, were sold yesterday at over 10c net a pound; and a good many pretty fair quality for shop butchers could be had at 9c net, and some undoubtedly sold less. The market was very dull all day, and the weather hot and dusty until near 4 o'clock, when a thunder shower commenced, at which time we noticed that several hundred head were still in the pens, but those were probably all sold before dark, as drovers have got tired of holding cattle over for better markets. A good many of the poorest cattle in market sold this week at 7@8c net a pound, and some of them still lower. The drovers appear to despond of seeing any advance of prices from the present rates for some months to come.

THE HOG MARKET.

The receipts of Hogs continue small, but are large enough for the demand this hot weather, at the following quotations:

Corn-fed Hogs, 6¼@6½c ℔ gross, and distillery Hogs, 6⅛@6¼c.

MORE TO BE ADMIRED THAN THE RICHEST DIADEM
EVER
Worn by Kings or Emperors.
What? Why a Beautiful Head of Hair.
Because it is the ornament God Himself provided for all our race. Reader, although the rose may bloom ever so brightly in the glowing cheek, the eye be ever so sparkling, the teeth be those of pearls, if the head is bereft of its covering, or the hair be snarled and shriveled, harsh and dry, or worse still if sprinkled with gray, nature will lose more than half her charms. Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative, if used two or three times a week, will restore and permanently secure to all such an ornament. Read the following and judge. The writer of the first is the celebrated Pianist, Thalberg:
New York, April 19, 1858.
DR. WOOD:—Dear Sir: Permit me to express to you the obligations I am under for the entire restoration of my hair to its original color; about the time of my arrival in the United States it was rapidly becoming gray, but upon the application of your "Hair Restorative" it soon recovered its original hue. I consider your Restorative as a very wonderful invention, quite efficacious as well as agreeable.
I am, dear sir, yours truly, S. THALBERG.
"Drych a'r Gwyliedydd."
Welsh Newspaper office, 13 Nassau-st., April 12, 1858.
PROF. O. J. WOOD:—Dear Sir: Some month or six weeks ago I received a bottle of your Hair Restorative and gave it my wife, who concluded to try it on her hair, little thinking at the time that it would restore the gray hair to its original color, but to her as well as my surprise, after a few weeks' trial it has performed that wonderful effect by turning all the gray hairs to a dark brown, at the same time beautifying and thickening the hair. I strongly recommend the above Restorative to all persons in want of such a change of their hair. CHARLES CARDEW.
New York, July 25, 1857.
PROF. O. J. WOOD:—With confidence do I recommend your Hair Restorative, as being the most efficacious article I ever saw. Since using your Hair Restorative my hair and whiskers which were almost white have gradually grown dark; and I now feel confident that a few more applications will restore them to their natural color. It also has relieved me of all dandruff and unpleasant itching, so common among persons who perspire freely. J. G. KILBY.
